Subject: Rising Road Accidents Involving School Children

Sir/Madam,

Through the columns of your esteemed newspaper, I wish to highlight the growing menace of road accidents that claim innocent young lives, particularly school-going children. Careless driving, overcrowded school vans, and lack of strict traffic enforcement are major causes.

Many schools do not have adequate safety checks or trained drivers. It's heart-wrenching to see children endangered on their way to gain an education. I urge the authorities to install speed breakers near schools, enforce stricter penalties for traffic violations, and raise public awareness about road safety.

I hope my concerns reach the appropriate authorities through your widely read publication.

Yours sincerely
Aman Sharma

The Municipal Commissioner

Municipal Corporation

Delhi New Delhi – 110002

Subject: Complaint regarding non-functional streetlights in our locality

Sir/Madam,

I am writing to draw your attention to a matter of public concern in our locality. The streetlights on our road have not been functioning for the past two weeks, resulting in complete darkness during the night.

This situation has not only caused great inconvenience to residents but also raised serious safety concerns. People returning home late are at risk, and incidents of petty theft have already been reported. We have previously informed the local office, but no action has been taken so far.

I request you to kindly look into the matter urgently and take necessary steps to ensure that the streetlights are repaired at the earliest.

Thank you.

Yours faithfully,

Rahul Sharma

- It should clearly portray the stated facts
- The use of first-person pronouns should be omitted

Format:

1. Title
2. Introduction
3. Body of the content
4. Conclusion

Solved Examples:-

1. The bar graph given below shows the data of Traditional teaching techniques and E- learning techniques. Write an analytical paragraph in about 100-120 words, analysing the graph and statement, ' Need to Walk according to the signs of the world'' .

Answer-

Traditional Teaching and E- learning techniques

The given graph shows the different percentages of Traditional teaching techniques and E- learning techniques. The education system all over the world has faced an unprecedented change from offline mode to online mode due to the outbreak of COVID. Students, researchers, teachers and staff from all over the world are trying to shift entire educational activities from offline to online mode, which is also a need of this era. E-learning, promotes active and independent learning, enables efficient way of delivering courses as the resources are available from anywhere and at any time. Learners can interact with their peers from all around the world through group discussions and private chats. Studying material can be accessed unlimited number of times.

Given data displays that there is a huge increase of E learning in the field of research, which is from 20% to 80 %. Subsequently, students and teachers graph has also grown up from 30 % to 70%, which is indeed a great change. Finally, if we look at the graph of staff, it has risen from 40% to 60%.

In conclusion, we can admit that the world is changing over time and periods. If we cannot adopt the modern way of learning and teaching techniques.

Study the following data showing the percentage of students choosing different extracurricular activities in a school, and write an analytical paragraph in about 150 words.

Verbal Cue: The data below shows students' preferences for extracurricular activities.

Sports – 40%

Music – 25%

Art – 15%

Drama – 10%

Others – 10%

Analytical Paragraph:

The data presents the distribution of students' preferences for extracurricular activities in a school.

A clear majority, 40% of the students, prefer sports, highlighting a strong interest in physical fitness, team spirit, and competitive play. Music is the second most popular choice with 25%, reflecting students' artistic inclination and passion for rhythm and melody. Art holds 15%, showing that a fair number of students value creative expression through visual media. Drama and other activities account for only 10% each, indicating limited participation—possibly due to lesser exposure or available resources. Overall, the data reveals a leaning toward activities that offer either physical engagement or artistic outlet.

The school may consider enhancing facilities for the lesser-chosen fields to promote a more balanced development of varied talents and to encourage exploration beyond the more popular options.

Practice Exercises:-

1. "Cooperation and helpfulness, rather than a spirit of competition will make you really successful. MS. Dhoni is well known for cooperation with his team; hence he has reached height uncharted by any other cricketer." Analyse this statement in about 100-120 words.

2. The given double bar graph shows the preferences of children in a school in playing different games over the span of six years. Write an analytical paragraph about the given information. (100-120 words)

3. Critically analyze this statement in about 100-120.

"Character develops over a course of time and in response to the circumstances that we face. Inherent qualities and external influences affect character development strongly."

TENSE

Understand the Three Main Tense Type

Present Tense (e.g. She writes every day)

Past Tense (e.g. He wrote a letter yesterday)

Future Tense (e.g. They will write tomorrow)

Each of these has four aspects: simple, continuous, perfect, and perfect continuous.

❖ Know the difference between continuous and perfect continuous tense.

Type	Formula	Example	Meaning
Past Continuous	was/were + verb-ing	I was reading	Action happening at a point in the past(time phrase not included)

Type	Formula	Example	Meaning
Past Perfect Continuous	had been + verb-ing+ time phrase	I had been reading for 2 hours before she arrived	Ongoing past action completed before another(time phrase included)

❖ Know the use of past perfect tense.

If you're telling a story with two past events, use past perfect for the first action and simple past for the second.

Structure:

had + past participle (V3)

• When to Use It:

❖ To show the earlier of two past actions

I had eaten before he arrived.

❖ To explain the cause of a past event

She was upset because she had lost her phone.

❖ With time expressions like 'before', 'after', 'when', 'by the time

By the time we got to the station, the train had left.

SECTION C: LITERATURE

1. A LETTER TO GOD

Summary: The story 'A Letter to God' is written by G. L. Fuentis. He was one of the greatest Novelists of his time. Lencho is the protagonist of this story. He was a hard-working farmer. His house was located at a low hill in a valley. From this height, he could behold his fields and the river flowing. He was expecting a good harvest but the field needed a downpour. Lencho had been looking at the sky since morning. He told his wife at dinner time that it is going to rain today.

During the meal, big drops of rain began to fall. Very soon his field was full of rain. But suddenly the rain turned into a large hailstone. It hailed for an hour. It looked as if it were covered with salt. Not a leaf was there on the trees. His corn was totally destroyed. The soul of Lencho's was filled with sadness. He said that they would all go hungry this year.

All through the night, Lencho thought only of his one hope, the help of God. He believed, "The eyes of God see everything even what is deep in one's conscience. He would not let them die of hunger". The very next Sunday Lencho went to the post office and wrote a letter in the name of God. He wrote "God, if you don't help me, my family and I will starve this year. I need a hundred pesos to sow my field again and to live until the crop comes".

He addressed the letter 'to God', affixed a stamp on the envelope and put it into the mailbox. A postman and the postmaster laughed heartily but In order not to shake the writer's faith, the postmaster decided to answer the letter. He collected money from his employees and friends. He contributed some part of his salary. But he could collect only seventy pesos. So he put all the money in an envelope and addressed it to Lencho, putting a signature "God". The next Sunday, Lencho reached the post office somewhat earlier.

He was very much confident of help from God. Immediately he opened the letter and found the money. But he became angry at finding a hundred pesos. He remarked that God could not make such a mistake of sending him less money. Immediately Lencho went up to the window.

He wrote another letter, fixed a stamp on it and put the same into the mailbox. The postmaster opened and read the letter. It said "God, only seventy pesos have reached me. Send the rest not through the mail because the post office employees are a bunch of crooks".

Points to remember

- Lencho was a farmer and had a field of ripe corn.
- He was waiting for a downpour to make his harvest good.
- The rain turned into hailstones and destroyed his whole crop of corn.
- He had left nothing to eat so he wrote a letter to seek help from god.
- He demanded 100 pesos in his letter written to the god.
- The post office employees made fun of him.
- The postmaster decided to help him not to break faith on god.
- The postmaster collected from others and contributed his own but could arrange only 70 pesos.
- Lencho was angry that he could not receive 100 pesos.
- Lencho demanded the remaining 30 pesos by writing another letter to god.
- He requested to send the pesos through another means as he believed that post office employees were a bunch of crooks.

Long Questions and Answers (LQA)

Question 1. Grief or sadness is an emotion natural to all types of loss or significant change. You have been asked to present an analysis of the approaches of Lencho and Kisa Gotami in dealing with their respective losses. Write this presentation draft including your insights, and comparing the approaches of both.

You may begin like this : One acknowledges that Lencho had unwavering faith in God whereas Kisa Gotami in her grief, believed that her sonhowever

(Reference — A Letter to God and The Sermon at Benares) [2024, 100-120 words]

Answer. One acknowledges that Lencho had unwavering faith in God, whereas Kisa Gotami in her grief believed that her son could be brought back to life, however, finally, she realized the ultimate truth of life. Both Lencho and Kisa experience loss and grief but their losses are of different kinds. The loss of crops faced by Lencho can be made good with financial help. However, Kisa's loss is the loss of her son which is irreparable.

We also see that Lencho's positive attitude and faith in God gave him courage. Despite not having any food for the entire year, he believed that God would help them and so, he wrote a letter to God for help. This shows him to be impractical because no one writes a letter to God seeking help, on the other hand, prayer is the mode to communicate with God. Lencho's blind faith makes him overlook the help extended by the post office workers who act like messengers of God. He thinks that God has sent him the money.

Kisa Gotami is unable to bear her son's untimely demise and carries the lifeless body looking for a cure to bring it back to life. However, when she is not able to find a household that has not lost a beloved, she realizes the truth behind humans being mortals and finds herself to be selfish in her love for her child. Thus, she accepts death as the truth of life.

Both approaches, though different in their methods and outcomes, highlight the complex and multifaceted nature of human response to loss.

Question 2: Did Lencho try to find out who had sent the money to him? Give reasons in support of the answer?

Answer: Lencho didn't attempt to discover who had sent him the money because he firmly believed that it was a gift from God. He never doubted for a moment that anyone other than God could have been the sender. His faith in the Almighty was unshakeable, and he trusted that nothing escaped God's notice. Lencho was convinced that God knew about the hardships he was facing and had answered his plea for help. Therefore, he gratefully accepted the money, seeing it as a direct response to his prayers for deliverance from his difficult circumstances.

Some unsolved questions to practice

Question1: "Humanity still exists", this is what we get to know after reading 'A letter to God' in which firm faith in God of a poor farmer and helpfulness of the post office employees are aptly depicted. Write your opinion on the values mentioned above, in about 100-120 words.

Question2. Comment on the reactions and feelings of Lencho and Nelson Mandela when they faced challenges in their lives. (A Letter to God and Nelson Mandela: Long Walk to Freedom) [100-120 words]

2. Nelson Mandela: a Long Walk to Freedom

“The greatest glory in living lies not in never falling, but in rising every time we fall. “

- NELSON MANDELA

Gist: Nelson Mandela was born on 18th July 1918. ‘Long Walk to Freedom’ is an autobiography of Nelson Mandela in which he gives detail accounts about the struggle for freedom of South-Africa. On May 10, 1994, Nelson Mandela was sworn in as the first black president of South Africa. Here after it became a new-born non-racial democratic country.

First Non-Racial Government: It was the 10th of May, 1994. The day was bright and clear. The inauguration ceremony of the first non-racial government was held at the lovely amphitheater in the Union Buildings in Pretoria. It was the largest gathering of international leaders on South African soil. Politicians and dignitaries from more than 140 countries attended the ceremony. First of all Mr. de Klerk was sworn-in as second Deputy President. Then Thabo Mbeki was sworn-in as the first Deputy President. Then came Mandela’s turn. He was sworn-in as the first black President of South Africa.

Mandela’s speech: Mandela spoke how for decades South Africa was the seat of white supremacy. Now the presence of all people confer glory and hope to newborn liberty. The blacks who were considered as outlaws not so long ago were hosting the nations of the world on their soil. Their victory over ‘apartheid’ was a common victory for justice, peace and human dignity. Political freedom had been won. Now they would work hard to liberate all their people from the bondage of poverty, deprivation and diseases. Never would South Africa again face the oppression of one by another.

Impressive Display of jets: Then there was a spectacular display of jets. South African jets and helicopters roared in perfect formation over them in the sky. It was also a demonstration of the military’s loyalty to democracy and to the new government. Then two national anthems were played.

The policy of Apartheid: Apartheid created a deep and lasting wound in the people. The decades of exploitation and oppression of the black produced heroes like Tambo’s, Sisulus and others. These black heroes were men of extraordinary courage, wisdom and generosity. The greatest wealth of South Africa was not in its minerals and diamonds but in men of such great character.

The struggle of Comrades: Nelson Mandela learnt the meaning of courage from such brave comrades. Courage is the victory over fear. These comrades were ready to risk and sacrifice their lives for an idea—the idea of freedom and equality. Even in the darkest prisons their hopes and faith were not broken. They never allowed the flame of struggle to be extinguished.

Joining the African National Congress: Mandela realized that not only was he deprived of freedom but his brothers and sisters were also deprived of freedom. That was why he joined the African National Congress. It was his desire for the freedom of his people and their self-respect that totally transformed him from a weak young man to a bold one. A law-abiding lawyer was forced to become an outlaw. He realized that freedom is indivisible. He knew the oppressed must be liberated. The oppressed and the oppressor alike are robbed of their humanity. Both of them must be liberated.

Q1. Why was the young seagull afraid to fly? (CBSE 2011, 2019)

Ans : Whenever the young seagull took a little run forward to the extreme edge of the ledge and attempted to flap his wings, he became afraid. Seeing the vast area of the sea, he thought his wings would never support him.

Q2. How were Seagull's parents helping his brothers and sister for "perfecting them in the art of flight"?

Ans: The young seagull was afraid of flying, but his two brothers and a sister had started flying. But his parents were teaching them to be perfect in the art of flying. They were teaching them how to skim the waves and how to dive for fish. He felt the heat because he had not eaten since the previous nightfall.

Q3. What did the young seagull do to satisfy his hunger?

Ans: The seagull was feeling hungry because he could not fly and his family had left him alone for it. To satisfy his hunger, he was forced to eat whatever he found.

Q4. Why could the young seagull not reach his parents without flying?

Ans: He could not reach his parents without flying because on each side of him the edge ended in a sheer fall in a vertical cliff, with the sea below. Then, between him and his parents there was a deep and wide crack in the land.

Long Answer Questions

Q1. Why was the young seagull left alone in the ledge by his family?

OR

"The young seagull was alone on his ledge." How far do you think this condition was by his choice? (CBSE QUESTION BANK)

Ans: The young seagull was afraid to fly. His father and mother wanted him to go and fly with them. But whenever he had taken a little run forward to the extreme edge of the ledge and tried to move his wings he became afraid. He failed to muster up courage to thrust himself forcibly in space, and started flying.

His two brothers and his sister had wings shorter than him but they started flying. But the young seagull somehow thought that his wings would not support him. For this, he was scolded by his parents, who gave a threat to him and he was left alone in the ledge.

Q2. How do you find the seagulls in the beginning and at the end of the lesson?

Ans: In the beginning we find the young seagull too frightened and terrified to fly. He had bigger wings as compared to his two brothers and sister. But still he was afraid even to attempt flying. When they flew away he could gather courage to thrust himself forcibly in space, which made him scared and desperate.

When he was starving for a day, his mother came across to him with a piece of fish in her beak. When she reached near him, she stopped and, maddened by hunger, he dived at the fish. But his mother had swooped upward. He found his wings spread and was more confident now. In the end we see him flying till he was tired and dropped himself on the surface of the sea.

Part 2 : Black Aeroplane by Frederick Forsyth

- Theme of the Lesson: Sometimes, it gets tough for us to take decisions and doubt creates a lot of fear. We consider some helpful incidents to be miracles and mysteries. These incidents take us out of trouble and are nothing else but our mind's courage and strength which takes the form of an external factor and takes us out of the doubtful situation. Such incident happens with the narrator, the pilot of the old Dakota plane who is flown out of the storm by a mysterious "Black Aeroplane".
- Black Aeroplane Mind Map

- Summary:- The story "Black Aeroplane" is about a pilot who feels happy and contented to fly over a city that is sleeping (at night time). He is flying from Paris to London. While taking his flight, he dreams about the long holiday with his family. He also fantasizes about the scrumptious breakfast he would have upon landing. As soon as he crosses Paris, he gets a look of the dark clouds that were a sign of the upcoming storm. The right decision would have been to turn back to Paris for the sake of safety. But he is overshadowed by his dreams and not wanting to delay them, risks the life of his passengers and heads straight into the storm. Everything gets dark, he is unable to see, all his direction instruments stopped functioning and he lost control of the plane. When all hope was lost, he saw another plane whose pilot was more than willing to rescue them. The author was panicking as there was very less amount of fuel left. The anonymous pilot guided them out of the storm and disappeared as soon as they saw light. Upon landing, when he asks the lady in the control room about the other pilot, he is left in shock when she says that his was the only plane in the sky.
- Character Sketch of the Pilot: Fredrick Forsyth, the narrator, was a licensed pilot. He was returning to England in his old Dakota aeroplane while flying over France. He was happy to fly to his hometown. He was a devoted family man. While flying, he was daydreaming about spending his holiday with his family. He was also eager to have his much-awaited English breakfast on reaching London. So, he wanted to arrive in time for breakfast. When the storm clouds began to form in the sky, he was roughly 150 kilometers from Paris. Although he had less fuel, he made the mistake of flying into the storm clouds in his eagerness to meet his family and enjoy his English breakfast. He disregarded his expert advice and did not return back to Paris. As expected, the storm clouds caused his flying equipment to stop working. His life was in danger. The fuel tank was about to get empty. He was brave and had patience; he never gave up. Then he noticed a mysterious black plane coming to his help. He followed the strange pilot's instruction like an obedient child and landed safely at his destination.

4. From the Diary of Anne Frank

Summary: In this lesson, Anne talks about her loneliness. She has no one to talk to though she is surrounded by family and around 30 people whom she called her "friends". Thus, she takes the decision of writing her feelings in a diary. It is unusual for her to write in a diary but she is really in need of a true friend. She decides to name her diary "Kitty". Unlike other people, she is not going to mention just facts in it. She starts with writing her background, to make it easier to understand for anyone who reads it later. She describes her family and early childhood when they all migrated, her early schooling. After giving a brief account of her background, she comes to the present day where she tells us about the result day. Everyone in the class is nervous about his or her result and boys are even making bets. Anne was quite sure about herself and her friends. She had a good relationship with all the teachers except her math's professor, Mr. Keesing. Mr. Keesing was constantly annoyed with her for her talkativeness. He started giving her punishments in the form of essays on weird topics such as "Chatterbox" to which she replied with full wit. She wrote essays that were funny and explained that this was a trait that she had inherited from her mother and now not much could be done about it. He kept on giving her essays until she wrote a satire. After that third and last assignment, Mr. Keesing never pointed her out for talking.

- She had sweet memories of Mrs. Kuperus at Montessori School. Her grandmother fell ill in 1941 and died in 1942. This broke her.
- Anne considered teachers to be the most unpredictable creatures on earth. She had good relationship with all teachers except Mr. Keesing who punished her several times for talking too much during the lessons.
- She wrote an essay on A Chatterbox as punishment, saying that talking was a student's trait and she inherited it from her mother. Again as punishment she wrote an essay on An Incurable Chatterbox. Then she wrote an essay on Quack Quack Quack said Mistress Chatterbox.
- Her friend Sanne helped her write it in verse. It said that father Duck beat the three ducklings as they quacked too much and made them deaf.
- Mr. Keesing took the joke in the right way and didn't bother Anne for talking thereafter and didn't give her any extra homework.

EXTRACT BASED COMPREHENSION QUESTION EXERCISES

1. Writing in a diary is a really strange experience for someone like me. Not only because I have never written anything before, but also because it seems to me that later on neither I nor anyone else will be interested in the musing of a thirteen-year-old school girl. Oh well, it doesn't matter. I feel like writing and I have an even greater need to get all kind of things off my chest. Paper has more patience than people. 'I thought of this saying on one of those days when I was feeling a little depressed and was sitting at home with my chin in my hands, bored and listless, wondering whether to stay in or go out.

- (c) The word is musing.
- (d) The word is listless.

2) Let me put it more clearly, since no one will believe that a thirteen-year-old girl is completely alone in the world. And I 'm not. I have loving parents and a sixteen-year-old sister, and there are about thirty people I can call friends. I have a family, loving aunts and a good home. No, on the surface I seem to have everything, except my one true friend. All I think about when I'm with friends is having a good time. I can't bring myself to talk about anything but ordinary everyday things. We don't seem to be able to get any closer, and that's the problem. Maybe it's my fault that we don't confide in each other. In any case, that's just how things are, and unfortunately they're not liable to change. This is why I've started the diary.

- (a) Why was Anne Frank disturbed even when she had loving parents, relatives and friends?
- (b) Why did Anne decide to write a diary?
- (c) Find the word that means the same as unluckily '.

LONG ANSWER QUESTIONS (100-150 Words)

1. Anne called 26th July a tumultuous 'day. Explain the reasons behind it.

Ans. Anne called 26th July a tumultuous day as it was full of tension and fright. The first warning siren was sent off in the morning but nobody paid any attention to it because it only meant that the planes were crossing the coast. The siren alarmed again around 2 O'clock in the afternoon. Anne and her sister went upstairs but after five minutes they heard loud gunshots. After half an hour, drone of engines faded and life became normal. The city was enveloped in thick fog. But after dinner time, there was another gun-fire round and swarms of planes. The air was buzzing with the drone of engines. Nobody was able to sleep that night because it repeated again at midnight.

2. How does Anne feel about Mr. Keesing's essay assignment and what is her purpose of writing them?

Ans. Anne takes Mr. Keesing's assignment as a challenge. She thinks Mr. Keesing is either trying to teach her a lesson or make fun of her by doing so. Therefore, for the first essay, her purpose is to convince Mr. Keesing of the importance of talking and why it is impossible for her to talk less. For her third essay, she tries to be inventive and composes a poem to humour Mr. Keesing. Both these incidents show us that Anne is a creative person who takes challenges in her stride. After the submission of all essays, she is also successful in being permitted to talk less. This also shows that she is a good writer.

5. Glimpses of India

PART – 1 (A Baker from Goa)

The lesson begins with how narrator's elders often recall the time when Goa was under the rule of the Portuguese. They talk how the importance of bakers is still maintained in their villages even after the Portuguese have left. They are known as 'Paders' in Goa. The mixers, moulders and their time-tested furnaces continue to serve the people of Goa with their famous bread loaves. It is possible that the original ones may not exist, but their profession is being continued by their sons. The thud of their bamboo stick can still be heard in some parts of the village. The same jingling thud would wake the narrator and his friends during their childhood days who would go running to him without brushing or washing their mouth properly. It was the maid-servant of the house who collected the loaves while children sorted out the bread bangles for themselves. Bakery products have importance in the culture and traditions of Goa. Bol or sweet bread is a part of marriage gifts, cakes and Bolinhas or coconut cookies are eaten at every festival and the lady of the house prepares sandwiches at her daughter's engagement. Earlier bakers wore a unique frock of knee-length known as 'kabai' but during the narrator's childhood days, they wore a shirt and trousers of length slightly shorter than the usual ones. They generally collected their bills at the end of every month. Bakery has continued to be a profitable profession, managing to keep their families joyous and prosperous.

Main Points of the Story

- The Portuguese in Goa were lovers of bread
- Those eaters of bread have now gone but its makers still exist.
- During the childhood days of the narrator, a baker used to be their friend, companion and guide.
- The baker came twice a day – once in the morning and again while returning home.
- After finishing his sailing.
- The jingling thud of the baker's bamboo woke up the sleeping children.
- The loaves were delivered to the servants of the house.
- The children would peep into the baker's basket for the bread bangles.

- The children would eat bread with hot tea.
- The marriages were incomplete without the popular bol bread.
- Bolinhas was a must during Christmas and all other festivals.
- The makers wore a particular knee length frock known as kabai.
- Baking was a profitable profession. Bakers had a plump physique testifying to this.
- The bakers collected their bills at the end of the month.

Extract Based Questions

1. We kid would be pushed aside with a mild rebuke and the loaves would be delivered to the servant. But we would not give up. We would climb a bench or the parapet and peep into the basket, somehow. I can still recall the typical fragrance of those loaves. Loaves for the elders and the bangles for the children.

(a) Who are 'we' in the extract?

(c) 'Feast' from the extract means 'celebration meal'.

(d) The lady of the house must prepare sandwiches on the occasion of her daughter's engagement.

Short Answer Questions (30-40 Words)

Q1. What did the baker do first once he reached a house?

Ans. The baker would first greet the lady of the house by saying — Good Morning. He would then place the basket on the vertical bamboo and deliver the loaves to the servant.

Q2. How did the baker make his entry?

Ans. The baker used to enter with the jingling sound of his specially made bamboo staff. His one hand supported the basket on his head and the other banged the bamboo on the ground.

Q3. How do we get to know that the makers of bread still exist?

Ans. The narrator states that the eaters of loaves might have vanished but the makers are still there. He further says that those age-old, time-tested furnaces still exist and the fire in the furnaces had not yet been extinguished.

Q4. What is the importance of breads for the Goans? OR Why was the Baker's furnace essential in a traditional Goan village?

Ans. Different kinds of breads are important during the different occasions. Bolinhas had to be prepared during Christmas and other festivals. The mothers used to prepare sandwiches on the occasion of their daughter's engagement. So, the baker's furnace was essential.

Long Answer Questions (100-150 Words)

1. Instead of enjoying their childhood, the children today are keen to enter adulthood. After reading about all the joys that the author Lucio Rodrigues had in his childhood do you think such a keenness on the part of children is desirable?

Ans. I don't think that the keenness of the children these days to enter adulthood is desirable. Children these days are in a hurry to enter adulthood and have access to technology. Due to this they are learning things earlier than usual and getting matured beyond their age.

Hence, they are losing out their childhood and missing the joys that it brings with it. As per my thinking, they should grow at a slow pace and enjoy their childhood to the fullest. Children who miss out on their childhood cannot be a complete adult. So, they should not hurry up to be an adult and grow at nature's pace.

2. After reading the story A Baker from Goa, do you think our traditions, heritage, values and practices are the roots that nourish us? Why/why not?

Ans. A Baker from Goa highlights the importance of the traditional practice of making breads for every occasion and festival of the Goan people. This tradition continues even today. This shows how our traditional practices can keep us to our past and heritage. Traditional values shape our personality and also provide us emotional support. They enable us to face difficult situations and make us mentally strong. Traditional practices also have an impact on our behavioral pattern towards the other people in society.

kingdom of God. It has rolling hillsides with a pollution free river and forests teeming with wildlife. Here nature exists in its pristine glory, which adds to the diversity of India. Further, it has coffee and spice plantations, quite different from the rest of India. The local people, the Kodavus, are a martial race. Of course, they are well known for their hospitality, just like all Indians. All these features of Coorg add to the diversity of our country.

PART – 3 (Tea from Assam)

The story revolves around the infamous beverage 'tea' telling us more about its history and discovery. It begins from the scene where two friends, Pranjol and Rajvir are set to go to Assam, Pranjol's hometown when a tea vendor asks them if they would like to have some freshly made tea. They buy two cups joining almost every other person in their compartment. From there, the journey begins and Pranjol starts reading his detective book while Rajvir decides to enjoy the scenic beauty. There were soft green paddy fields followed by tea bushes. Rajvir is very excited on seeing such large plantations of tea but Pranjol is unable to match the same level because he was born and brought up in Assam, famously known as the 'Tea country'. Visiting there for the first time, Rajvir did a lot of study about how tea was discovered and that it dates back to 2700 B.C. According to what he read, it was first consumed in China and reached Europe in the 16th century, where it was mostly popular for its medicinal properties. There are numerous stories as to how it was discovered, one about a Chinese Emperor and the other about a Buddhist monk. The former liked the taste of it while the latter, used it to get rid of sleep. As they were having this discussion, they reached their destination where Pranjol's parents had come to receive them and take them to their tea garden. On their way, they passed a cattle bridge and gave way to a truck filled with tea leaves which drew their attention to the fact that it was the second sprouting season. Rajvir, indeed did a lot of study before coming which impressed Pranjol's father and he intended to learn a lot more.

Main Points of the Story

- Tea is really a very popular beverage in India.
- You can hear the vendor shouting —chai-garam-garam chai|| at every railway station.
- More than eighty crores of cups of tea are drunk every day throughout the world.
- It was green, green everywhere and Rajvir had never seen so much greenery before.
- The landscape changed and tea bushes took the place of green paddy fields.
- A sea of tea-bushes stretched as far as the eyes could go.
- Assam has the largest concentration of plantations in the world.
- No one really knows who discovered tea. One Chinese legend says that a few leaves of the twigs burning under the pot fell into the boiling water.
 - The leaves gave it a delicious flavour. They were tea leaves.
 - Words like Thai and thine are from the Chinese language.
 - According to an Indian legend, an ancient Buddhist ascetic cut off his eyelids because he felt sleepy during meditation.
 - Ten tea plants grew out of his eyelids.

- Rajvir saw acre upon acre of tea bushes and nearly all of them were neatly pruned to the same height.
- Groups of tea-pluckers with bamboo baskets on their backs were plucking newly sprouted leaves.
- A tractor was pulling a trailer-load of leaves.
- Rajvir asked Pranjol's father if it was the second-flush or sprouting period.
- The sprouting periods lasts from May to July and this period yields the best tea.

Showing self-restraint, she resisted the temptation to buy peppermint, toys or a ride on the merry-go-round in order to save 60 paise for the bus journey. She boarded the bus without anyone's help, refused a free treat by the conductor and didn't talk to strangers. This shows her commanding, confident and self-dependent nature. This also shows her determination and maturity at such a little age.

8. The Sermon at Benares

SUMMARY-

"Sermon at Benares" begins with the background of Gautama Buddha, who was born as a prince named Siddhartha Gautama. After encountering the harsh realities of life—old age, sickness, and death—he renounced his royal life in search of truth and enlightenment. Upon achieving enlightenment under the Bodhi tree, he gave his first sermon at Benares. This marked the beginning of his mission to teach people how to overcome suffering.

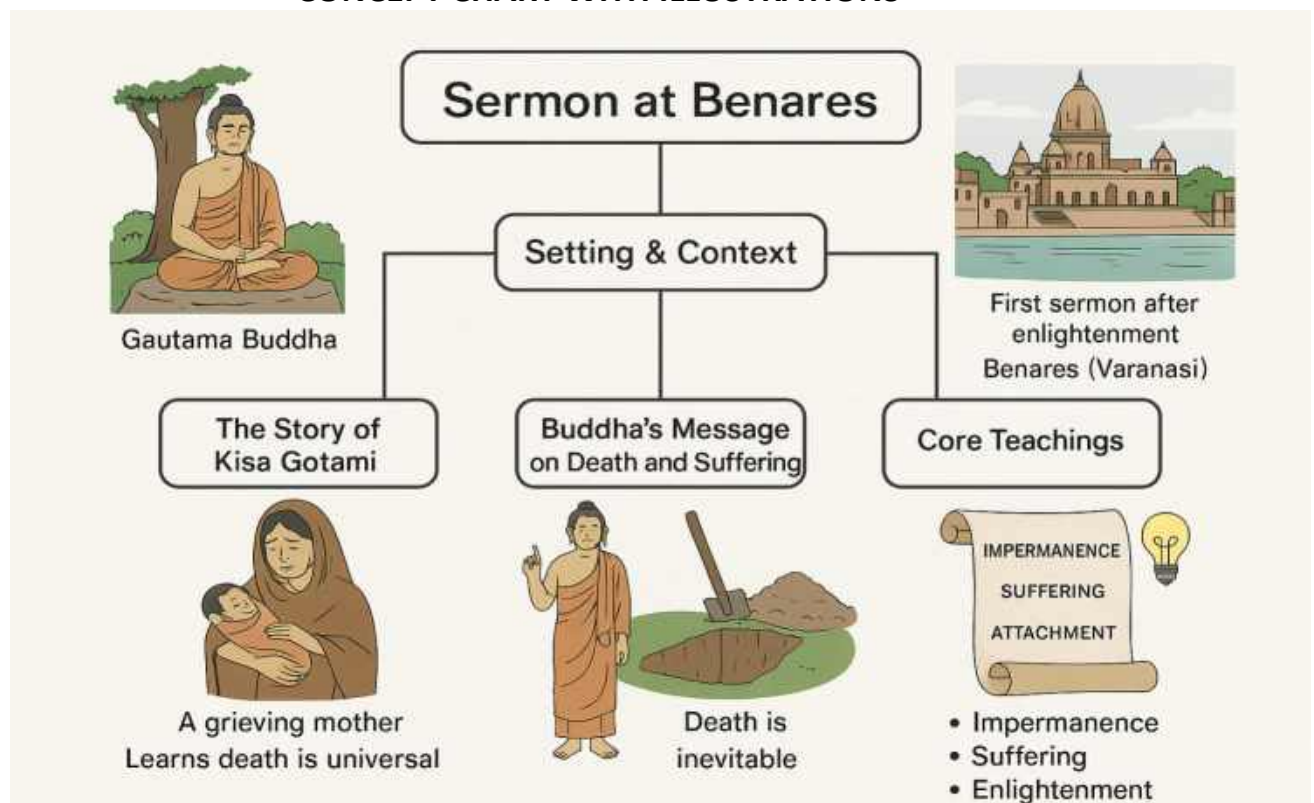

In this sermon, Buddha tells the story of Kisa Gotami, a woman whose only child had died. Overwhelmed with grief, she wandered from place to place, begging for medicine to bring her son back to life. People thought she had lost her sanity, but one wise man guided her to Buddha. Buddha listened to her and asked her to bring a mustard seed from a house where no one had ever lost a family member. Eagerly, she searched, but every household had suffered the loss of someone. Through this journey, she realized that death comes to all—it is a natural and inescapable part of life.

Buddha used this story to teach that grief is futile because it cannot change the reality of death. Those who are wise accept the impermanence of life and strive for peace by detaching from worldly attachments. His sermon emphasizes the Four Noble Truths and the importance of following the Eightfold Path to overcome suffering.

Thus, Buddha’s first sermon at Benares is not only a spiritual discourse but also a practical guide for facing the suffering and losses of life with wisdom, acceptance, and compassion.

Answer: Gautama Buddha was a Prince who was named Siddhartha Gautam by his parents. He was born in 563 B.C. in North India. He had been shielded from the sufferings of the world. He attained enlightenment under a Peepal tree and named the tree as 'Tree of Wisdom'.

Question2: Why did Prince Siddhartha leave the palace and become a beggar?

Answer: Once Prince Siddhartha, while hunting, saw a sick man, then an aged man, then a funeral procession and finally a monk begging for alms. Looking at his, he left the palace and became a beggar to search for enlightenment.

Question3: What do you know about the early life of Buddha?

Answer: Gautama Buddha was born in a royal family. His childhood name was Siddhartha. At the age of twelve, he was sent away for schooling in Hindu sacred scriptures and four years later he got married to a princess.

SHORT ANSWER TYPE QUESTIONS:

Question1: What did the Buddha do after he had attained enlightenment? Why?

Answer: Prince Siddhartha Gautama was deeply pained by the sufferings he saw around him and left house to seek the truth of life. After wandering for seven years, he finally sat under Peepal tree to meditate till he received the enlightenment. Wisdom of the law that governs the cycle of birth and death dawned on him and 'The Buddha' set out to share it with the world to relieve the mortals of their sufferings.

Question2: Kisa Gotami again goes from house-to-house after she speaks with the Buddha. What does she ask for the second time? Does she get? Why not.

Answer: Kisa Gotami goes from house to house to bring some mustard seeds where no death had taken place as asked by Buddha to cure her son. But she was unable to find such a house where no death had taken place. It made her realise that death is inevitable and that no one can deny the nature's cycle.

COMPETENCY-BASED QUESTIONS:

Question1: Describe the initial state of grief experienced by Kisa Gotami after the death of her son. How does this illustrate a universal human reaction to loss?

(Competency: Empathy, Identifying Universal Themes)

Answer: Kisa Gotami's initial state of grief was one of utter desperation and denial. She carried her dead child from house to house, pleading with people to give her medicine that would bring him back to life. This illustrates a universal human reaction to loss – an overwhelming desire to reverse the irreversible, a refusal to accept the reality of death, and a desperate search for any possible remedy, even if irrational. Her grief was so intense that it blinded her to the natural order of life and death.

Question2: The Buddha asks Kisa Gotami to bring him a handful of mustard seeds from a house where no one has ever died. What is the significance of this seemingly simple request? How does it help Kisa Gotami achieve understanding?

(Competency: Inferring Meaning, Analyzing Symbolic Actions)

Answer: The significance of the Buddha's request lies in its pedagogical purpose. It's not a literal task but a teaching tool. The Buddha knows that death is universal and no house would meet her criteria. The request forces Kisa Gotami to personally confront the reality of death in every household she visits. As she goes from door to door and finds that every family has experienced loss, she realizes that death is not unique to her or her son, but a common fate for all mortals. This personal, experiential understanding helps her move beyond her individual grief to a universal acceptance of suffering and mortality.

CASE-BASED QUESTIONS:

Question 1: The Realisation of Kisa Gotami : Kisa Gotami lost her only son and was devastated. She went from house to house, begging for medicine to bring her son back to life. People pitied her but could not help. Finally, she was directed to Gautama Buddha. Buddha did not cure the child, but instead gave her a simple task – to fetch a handful of mustard seeds from a house where no one had ever died. Eagerly, she set out, but every household she visited had experienced death. Eventually, she understood that death is universal.

Based on the above case, explain how Gautama Buddha used Kisa Gotami's personal tragedy to deliver a larger philosophical message. What does her experience teach us about grief, loss, and detachment?

Answer: Gautama Buddha handled Kisa Gotami's grief with deep empathy and wisdom. Rather than offering her false hope or philosophical discourse, he guided her through a personal experience that would lead to her enlightenment. By asking her to bring mustard seeds from a household untouched by death, he allowed her to confront a universal truth: death is inevitable and impartial.

Through her journey, Kisa Gotami met many people who had lost their loved ones. This shifted her perspective – she realised that her suffering was not unique, and everyone around her had experienced the pain of death. This gradual realisation helped her detach from her personal grief, and come to terms with the impermanence of life.

Buddha's approach teaches a powerful lesson – grief can only be overcome through understanding and acceptance, not denial. The story encourages readers to accept death as a part of life, and to let go of suffering that arises from clinging to things and people. Kisa Gotami's transformation shows how spiritual awakening can replace personal sorrow with wisdom and peace.

Question 2: The Essence of Buddha's First Sermon; After attaining enlightenment, Gautama Buddha delivered his first sermon at Benares. In this sermon, he talked about the certainty of death and the futility of mourning. He explained that the world is afflicted with death and decay, and that wise people do not grieve. Buddha advocated the path of detachment and understanding as the way to attain peace.

APPLICATION-BASED QUESTIONS:

Question1: You see your friend devastated after losing a family member. How would you use the message of "The Sermon at Benares" to comfort them?

Answer: I would gently explain to my friend that death is a natural and inevitable part of life, as Lord Buddha taught in his sermon. Everyone who is born must face death someday. Instead of being lost in sorrow, we should cherish the good memories of the person and continue living meaningfully. This realization helps us accept loss with greater peace.

Question2: If someone close to you is grieving and asking, “Why did this happen to me?” what lesson from the story would help them cope?

Answer: I would share the story of Kisa Gotami, who learned through her search for mustard seeds that death touches every household. Her journey taught that grief is universal. Similarly, I would tell my friend that they are not alone in their pain, and acceptance can lead to healing. Understanding this can help them move forward.

9. The proposal

Gist: Characters:

1. Stepan Stepanovitch Chubukov
2. Natalya Steponova,
3. Lomov
 - Lomov: A nervous, anxious man who wants to propose to Natalia.
 - Natalya Steponova: A young woman who is also nervous and can be argumentative.
 - Stepan Stepanovitch Chubukov: Natalia’s father, who is often distracted and doesn’t pay much attention to the arguments between the other characters.
2. Lomov’s Proposal:
 - Lomov visits Natalia's house to ask for her hand in marriage.
 - He is very nervous and tries to make the proposal, but instead of directly asking her, he keeps talking about things like property and dogs.
3. The Argument:
 - Lomov and Natalia argue about trivial things like whose dog is better and which of their estates is bigger. This takes up most of the conversation.
 - Both get angry over these small issues, and the proposal gets lost in the arguments.
4. Confusion and Misunderstanding:
 - Every time Lomov tries to propose, there is more arguing. They get sidetracked into arguing about their families’ land and animals instead of focusing on the main issue (marriage).
5. Conclusion:
 - Finally, Lomov is so frustrated that he almost faints, but then, after some more back-and-forth, Natalia agrees to marry him—though she doesn’t fully understand how it all happened.

- The chapter ends with the couple getting engaged, but their relationship seems full of conflict and misunderstanding.

KEY THEMES:

- Miscommunication: The characters are so focused on small details that they miss the bigger picture.
- Silliness of Social Conventions: The play shows how people often argue over unimportant things, which can lead to confusion and missed opportunities.

POETRY

1. DUST OF SNOW by Robert Frost

Summary

'Dust of Snow' is a beautiful short poem, written by Robert Frost. This poem tells that even a simple moment has a large impact and significance. The poet has mentioned crow and hemlock tree in this poem. Crow signifies his depressive and sorrowful mood and hemlock tree is a poisonous tree. Both of these signify that the poet was not in a good mood and so he describes the dark, depressive and bitter side of nature to present his similar mood. In such a sad, depressive mood, the poet was sitting under a hemlock tree. A crow, sitting on the same tree, shook off the dust of snow i.e., small particles of snow that remain on the surface after the snowfall, on the poet. This simple action changed the poet's mood. He realised that he had just wasted a part of his day repenting and being lost in sorrow. But the change in his mood made him realise that he should utilize the rest of the day in some useful activity. His sorrow was washed away by the light shower of snow dust. His spirit was revived and he got ready to utilise the rest of the day constructively.

Explanation of the Poem:

The way a crow	Has given my heart
Shook down on me	A change of mood
The dust of snow	And saved some part
From a hemlock tree	Of a day I had rued.

Explanation: The poet is upset and sitting under the hemlock tree. Suddenly a crow, sitting on the tree, shakes the particles of snow from the tree which fall on the poet. The soft and cold touch of snow changes the poet's mood from sad to happy. He starts feeling soothed and refreshed. In this way, a simple moment proves to be very significant and saves the rest of the day of poet from being wasted and held in regret.

MULTIPLE CHOICE QUESTIONS

Question4: How did the poet's mood change?

Answer: The falling of snow on the poet had changed his mood

SHORT ANSWER QUESTIONS

Question1: What does the poet want to convey through the poem, 'Dust of Snow'?

Answer: In the poem, 'Dust of Snow', the poet wants to convey that sometimes, certain moments or actions which are simple have larger significance. They can change the mood or life of a person. The way a crow shakes down the dust of snow on the poet inspires and gives him the idea of shaking off his depressive thoughts, become cheerful and do something useful.

Question2: The crow and hemlock are usually used as negative references in literature.

How is this different in this poem?

Answer: The poet is trying to break the stereotypes that consider a crow and a hemlock tree as inauspicious. The poet has represented nature in quite an unconventional manner. He is trying to emphasize that even a crow and a hemlock tree can bring about positive change in a person's life.

VALUE BASED LONG QUESTION AND ANSWER

Question: It is our attitude towards a situation that makes it positive or negative. Do you agree with it? Express your views with reference to the poem 'Dust of Snow'.

Answer: It is true that our attitude towards a problem plays an important role in making it positive or negative. Most of the people in today's world live a stressful life. They face different types of problems in day to day life. A person can neither keep away from problems completely nor find solutions for them easily. But what makes the situation worse is one's attitude towards the problems. If we are depressed or sad the whole environment becomes gloomy. But if we are ready to face the problem bravely and positively, it helps in solving the problem also. The poet in the poem Dust of Snow was in a sorrowful mood. He felt that the whole day was going to be gloomy. But when a crow shook down snowflakes on him, his bitter mood changed into an optimistic one. This small, regular incident wiped away his gloom and made him cheerful. He could have become unhappy when such a thing occurred. But instead of seeing the negative aspect of the incident, he took a positive vibe from it. Thus the poem teaches us to find happiness from small things and to take everything positively.

2. FIRE AND ICE -ROBERT FROST

Summary

'Fire and Ice' is a short poem by Robert Frost. In this poem, the poet refers to two predictions of how the world will end. Some say it will end in fire while others say it will end in ice. According to the poet, 'fire' stands for desire, greed, avarice or lust. The more you try to satisfy them, the more they grow. There is no end to it. They spread rapidly like fire and engulf your whole life. One becomes selfish and sometimes cruel also. On the other hand, 'ice' according to the poet, stands for hatred, coldness and rigidity. One becomes insensitive and indifferent towards the feelings of others. The poet says that both fire and ice are growing with such a rapid speed that the world will soon perish either way, in fire or in ice.

Explanation of the Poem

1. Some say the world will end in fire,

From what I've tasted of desire

Some say in ice.

I hold with those who favour fire.

Explanation: The poet says that there are two notions in the society about the destruction of the world. The first of these theories states that fire will cause the disaster to happen. He

(c) Assertion is true and reason is false.

(d) Assertion is false and reason is true.

Answer. (b) Both assertion and reason are correct but reason is not the correct explanation of assertion.

2. Assertion: Ice could lead to end of the world.

Reason: Life is possible on earth with extreme high temperature.

(a) Both assertion and reason are correct and reason is the correct explanation of assertion.

(b) Both assertion and reason are correct but reason is not the correct explanation of assertion.

(c) Assertion is true and reason is false.

(d) Assertion is false and reason is true.

Answer. (c) Assertion is true and reason is false.

Answers:

- (a) 'It' refers to the world.
- (b) Perish means to die or to be destroyed.
- (c) Ice stands for coldness or hatred.
- (d) Ice or fire would be the cause of destruction.

SHORT ANSWER QUESTIONS

Question1: What does the poet mean by saying, 'I've tasted of desire/I hold with those who favour fire'?

Answer: Frost connects fire with desire. According to the poet, desire is powerful and would be a quick end. Moreover, he has had personal experience with desire. Those experiences led him to first conclude that the world will end in fire.

Question2: How do people differ in their opinions about the cause of destruction of the world?

Answer: According to the poem, the world will end due to 'fire', which symbolizes desire. But if the world had to end twice then it will be due to the hatred symbolized by 'ice'. The poet feels that there is enough hatred in the world that is spreading among the people. Just like desire, this hatred will end the world one day.

LONG ANSWER QUESTIONS.

Question1: Bring out the symbolism in the poem Fire and Ice"

Answer: According to the poet lust is a greater evil. Desire or lust can be the cause of war. Hatred is also harmful. So, the poem 'Fire and Ice' represents the two evils hatred and lust which lead to the destruction of the world. According to the poet, fire stands for desire, greed and avarice. The more you try to satisfy them, the more they grow. There is no end to it. They spread rapidly like fire and ruin your whole life. On the other hand, 'ice' according to the poet, stands for hatred. One becomes insensitive and indifferent towards the feelings of others. One becomes selfish and sometimes cruel as well. The poet says that both fire and ice are growing with such a rapid speed that the world would soon perish either way, in fire or in ice.

Question2: The poet faces a Hobson's choice in the poem Fire and Ice. Elaborate with reference to the theme of the poem.

Answer: The poem talks about the end of the world by fire, which symbolizes greed in humanity. Others feel that the end will come about by ice, which symbolizes hate. Thus humanity faces a choice which is really no choice, because the end result is destruction in both cases. The poet presents the choices in such a way as to emphasize the importance of his message of there being no alternatives. The theme of the poem, based on destruction through greed and hatred, illustrates the phrase Hobson's choice, gives the poem a profound and meaningful undercurrent.

2. A Tiger in the Zoo by Leslie Norris

Gist : Leslie Norris, who is indeed a well-known Welsh poet and short-story writer, represents nature along with animals in quite a sensitive way. In “A Tiger in the Zoo,” he draws a distinction between the tiger's free life and its woeful imprisoned life. The poem gives just one reflection of what is in fact the poet's deep empathy specifically for that animal, therefore highlighting all of the cruelty which the caging of this powerful creature represents.

As a matter of fact, we do see the tiger in what is the opening stanza. He quietly walks within his small enclosure in the zoo. The poet uses the pronoun that is ‘he’ for the purpose of conveying dignity in the tiger as a sentient being. He moves both with silence as well as with rages in such a subdued manner. These actions do give focus to each unnatural condition that he is required to then endure. Phrases like “pads of velvet” (metaphor) and “quiet rage” (oxymoron) emphasise the tiger's soft appearance along with the fury it holds back.

The second stanza shifts into the tiger's true territory, namely the wild. It is anticipated that now in the shadows he lurks there, and it is anticipated he will slip through that tall grass quite near a water hole so that he might watch his prey. The poet utilises some strong verbs like “lurking” coupled with “sliding”. They communicate with regard to the tiger's power and also its stealth. Regarding the word “should”, it suggests it is actually morally wrong if you deprive a tiger of its freedom.

The third stanza describes how the tiger terrifies the villagers with his roar and his showing of his white teeth and sharp claws. The stanza shows the tiger's ultimate strength and wildness versus the tame hushed and silent version we see in the zoo.

The fourth stanza takes us once more to the zoo, where the tiger is still in a cell made of concrete, walking with controlled power. The phrase “strength behind bars” (synecdoche) vividly illustrates how the tiger’s force has been diminished to only a mere shadow of what it should be. He completely disregards the visitors, being his royal dignity even though he is a prisoner. His indifference is like a splinter, it reveals what his quiet suffering is like.

In the last stanza, the mood of the speaker gets more sorrowful. The tiger at night is no longer apart from himself, he hears the human voices that are now far away, and the cars that are patrolling. The brilliance of the tiger’s eyes recalls the brightness of the stars in the sky. The tiger stares at this sky and as the stars shine in the night sky, they seem to enjoy more freedom than the tiger who has been forcibly confined to his cage.

Long Answer Type Questions:

Question1: How do the verbs "lurking" and "sliding" in the second stanza emphasize the tiger's natural strength and stealth? How does this contrast with its subdued movements in the zoo?

Key Points: Emphasis on the Tiger's Natural Strength and Stealth

- "Lurking" suggests the tiger's patience and calculated movements, highlighting its ability to blend into the environment while preparing to attack.
- "Sliding" conveys effortless, smooth motion, reinforcing the tiger's agility and control in the wild. These verbs depict the tiger as a powerful predator, fully in command of its surroundings and instincts. The setting—shadows and tall grass near the water hole—enhances the tiger's stealth and ability to surprise its prey.

Contrast with the Tiger's Movements in the Zoo

- In captivity, the tiger paces quietly, restrained by the concrete cage.
- "Strength behind bars" signifies that its natural power is reduced to passive existence.
- It expresses suppressed fury through silent movements, unlike its dynamic presence in the wild.
- Ignoring visitors shows its disinterest and resignation, contrasting sharply with its alertness in its natural habitat. The shift from fluid, calculated movement in the wild to subdued, powerless pacing in the zoo highlights the tragedy of captivity and reinforces the theme of lost freedom.

Question2: In the zoo, the tiger ignores the visitors. What does this indifference signify about its state of mind? How does the poet use this behaviour to highlight the theme of captivity?

Key Points

- The tiger's indifference suggests resignation, as it no longer reacts to the outside world
- It signifies emotional detachment, showing that captivity has drained its spirit and instincts
- The absence of aggression or excitement highlights its suppressed natural behavior
- The poet uses this indifference to emphasize the cruelty of confinement, where even a majestic creature loses its vitality
- The contrast between the tiger's active presence in the wild and its passive state in the zoo deepens the theme of captivity
- The silent suffering of the tiger evokes sympathy, reinforcing the idea that captivity diminishes an animal's dignity and power

Short Answer Type Questions

Question1: What does the phrase "strength behind bars" symbolize?

This phrase reflects the tiger's suppressed power and dignity. Although it is naturally strong and majestic, captivity reduces its role to that of a passive prisoner, unable to express its true nature.

Question2: What contrast does the poet present in the poem?

The poet contrasts the tiger's life in the wild, where it moves freely and hunts, with its life in captivity, where it is restricted and subdued. This highlights the cruelty of keeping wild animals in enclosures.

Question3: What does the tiger do in the cage at night?

The tiger slowly stalks the length of its cage, listening to distant human voices and patrolling cars. It appears restless and confined, longing for the freedom it once had.

Question4: What does the poet suggest about the tiger's natural habitat?

The tiger belongs in the wild, lurking in the shadows, sliding through tall grass, and waiting near the water hole to hunt its prey. This environment allows it to exhibit its true instincts and strength.

Question5: What is the significance of "quiet rage" in the poem?

"Quiet rage" is an oxymoron that captures the tiger's suppressed anger. It reflects how captivity forces it to restrain its natural aggression, creating an internal conflict between its majestic nature and helpless state.

Very Short Answer Type Questions

Question1: What does the word "stalks" indicate about the tiger's movement?

Answer: It shows the tiger's proud yet subdued movement within the cage.

Question2: What does the repetition of "quiet" in the first stanza emphasize?

Answer: It emphasizes the unnatural silence of the tiger in captivity.

Question3: What does the image of "patrolling cars" convey?

Answer: It conveys the idea of surveillance and control.

Question4: What does the word "lurking" suggest about the tiger's behavior in the wild?

Answer: It suggests the tiger waiting secretly to catch prey.

Multiple Choice Question Answer

Question1: In the line "His strength behind bars," the word "behind" primarily emphasizes the tiger's:

- A) Physical confinement only B) Hidden muscles
C) Impaired power and lost purpose D) Structural strength of the cage

Question2: The contrast between "patrolling cars" and "brilliant stars" in the last stanza highlights:

- A) The difference between night and day
B) The zoo's security measures
C) The clash between artificial captivity and natural freedom
D) Modern technology vs. nature

Question3: The sensory effect created by "pads of velvet quiet" is meant to underscore the tiger's:

A) Quiet aggression and suppressed energy

C) Elegance in movement

B) Soft fur

D) Comfort in captivity

Question4: The poet’s imagined scene—“sliding through long grass near the water hole”—serves primarily to:

A) Describe the tiger’s daily routine in the jungle

B) Show its access to water

C) Contrast active wilderness life with stagnant zoo existence

D) Emphasize the tiger’s thirst in the wild

Question5: In “quiet rage”, the two words combine contrasting ideas—this is an example of:

A) Alliteration

B) Oxymoron

C) Metonymy

D) Synecdoche

Competency Based Questions

Question1: The tiger in the poem is said to have “quiet rage.” What does this phrase reveal about his emotional and psychological state? Provide two specific examples from the poem to support your answer.

Key Points

- The phrase "quiet rage" conveys the tiger’s suppressed anger and frustration due to captivity
- Though naturally fierce, confinement forces it to restrain its instincts, leading to silent emotional turmoil

Supporting examples from the poem

- "Strength behind bars" highlights the tiger’s restricted power, reducing it to pacing in a confined space instead of roaming freely
- "Stalking the length of his cage" shows controlled aggression, reflecting deep-seated frustration and longing for freedom
- These examples reinforce the theme of captivity, portraying how confinement diminishes the tiger’s majesty and forces it into silent suffering.

Question2: Compare and contrast the tiger’s existence in the wild with his zoo life. In 80–100 words, explain what these contrasting images convey about freedom vs. confinement.

Key Points

- In the wild, the tiger moves freely, lurks in the shadows, and hunts its prey, expressing its natural instincts and dominance.

- In captivity, the tiger is restricted to a concrete cage, pacing silently with suppressed aggression, unable to fulfill its wild nature.
- The wild symbolizes freedom, where the tiger thrives in its true habitat, maintaining ecological balance.
- The zoo represents confinement, where the tiger's power is reduced to passive existence behind bars.
- The contrast highlights the cruelty of captivity, showing how confinement strips a majestic creature of its dignity and natural role in the ecosystem.

3. How to Tell Wild Animals by Carolyn Wells

Summary :- 'How To Tell Animals', is a beautiful poem by Carolyn Wells about the strange habits and behaviour of some wild animals. The poetess says that the Asian Lion is a large tawny beast with a fearful roar. A tiger has black stripes on his yellow skin and is always ready to eat his victim. A Leopard has black spots on his skin. He leaps on his prey and eats it up. A bear can come to human colonies. He hugs up against a person and can put to death. A crocodile always sheds tears while eating its victim. A hyena will always look smiling. A chameleon always changes its colour according to its surrounding. This is the strange world of some of the wild animals. Much of the humour arises from the way language is used.

Poetic Devices :-

Rhyme Scheme: ababcc

Alliteration: roaming round, leap and leap again, who hugs you very hard, A novice might nonplus.

SHORT ANSWER QUESTIONS

Question1: How can you identify the Asian lion and the Bengal Tiger?

Answer: The Asian Lion has a large body and a brownish-yellow colour. It roars loudly when it attacks its prey. The very roar is enough to terrorize one to death. On the other hand, the Bengal Tiger is a noble animal which attacks the prey silently. It has black stripes on its yellow coat.

Question2: Why does the poet use the term 'noble' and 'wild' for the tiger?

Answer: The poet calls the tiger 'noble' and 'wild' because it hunts only when it is hungry and not like leopard who kills for mere pleasure.

LONG ANSWER QUESTION

Question1: Describe the effective use of humour in the poem 'How to tell wild animals'. What are the poetic liberties taken by the poet in the poem?

Answer: The poet, in the poem 'How to tell Wild Animals' creates humour by describing various beasts of prey. The way the poet explains the things is very funny yet interesting. The poet has depicted the wildlife very vividly and in a lively manner. While reading the poem, the readers enjoy the poet's work and it leaves them refreshed and happy. The humour used in the poem is suggestive and mild. If the Asian Lion roars 'at you as you are dying, the Bengal Tiger is a 'noble' wild beast that 'greet's you when you are roaming round in the jungle. The leopard will show no mercy and it will do no good to roar with pain. The bear gives you a very hard 'hug' and if you have any doubts whether it is a bear, it will give you just one more caress. The poet humorously says that hyenas come with 'merry smiles'; but if they 'weep' they are crocodiles. Similarly, the poet takes many liberties to make the poem impressive. In order to rhyme with 'lion' the poet changes the word dying to 'dyin'. Instead of leapt and leap the poet writes 'lept' and 'lep'. All these changes make the poem more interesting and enjoyable.

4. THE BALL POEM by JOHN BERRYMAN

Introduction: This poem is written in blank verse. This poem is about losing something that you love, and learning to grow up. It is about a little boy, who, for the first time in his young life, is learning what it is like to experience grief at the loss of a much beloved possession – his ball. The main theme of the poem is Loss and Acceptance.

Summary :- Once a boy was playing with his ball. It was bouncing in the street up and down. The boy was happily enjoying the game. While bouncing, suddenly it fell into the water and was lost. Without the ball, the boy became full of grief. The poet said and that there were other balls. He could purchase another since it was not a great loss. There was no need to worry. But, the boy had that ball for a long time so he was deeply grieved due to his attachment with it. It was linked to his memories. The poet thinks that it is of no use to purchase another ball. He must feel his responsibility of the loss. The poet conveys the readers of the poem that the loss is inseparable in human life.

POETIC DEVICES

- * It is written in a free-verse (blank-verse) style. No rhyme scheme is followed.
- * Symbolism: The ball is symbol of the boy's young and innocent days.
- * The word 'BALL' is repeatedly used by John Berryman in the poem. This technique is called Repetition.

* Alliteration: And no one buys a ball back, What, what is he to do?

*Imagery is also used in the following lines:

I saw it go.

Merrily bouncing, down the street, and then Merrily over—there it is in the water!

Assonance is used in the following line: (Use of the vowel sound 'e') He is learning, well behind his desperate eyes

Extracts Based Comprehension Questions:

Question1: What is the boy now, who has lost his ball, what, what is he to do? I saw it go merrily bouncing, down the street, and then merrily over – there it is in the water! No use to say – O there are other balls.

a) What has happened to the boy?A:- The boy was very sad as he had lost his ball.

(b) Why does the poet say No use to say – ‘O there are other balls ‘? A:- The poet says so as the loss of the ball is of a major consequence to the boy.

(c) Which word means ‘happily ‘? A:- Merrily means happily.

(d) Where did the ball go? A:- The ball went to the water.

Question2:

An ultimate shaking grief fixes the boy
As he stands rigid, trembling, staring down

All his young days into the harbour where His ball went. I would not intrude on him.

(i) Select the option that DOES NOT convey the meaning of the word ‘ULTIMATE’ as used in the given extract.

(a) eventual (b) furthest (c) consequent (d) fateful

(ii) The poet does not intrude on him. It is because

(a) the poet may spoil the mood of the boy who was in a happy mood.

(b) the poet thinks that the boy learns a lesson for his life from this incident.

(c) the poet feels sad for the condition of the boy who lost his ball.

(d) the poet has no willingness to buy a ball for the boy.

SHORT ANSWER QUESTIONS

Question1: Why does the poet say, —I would not intrude on him? Why doesn’t he offer him money to buy another ball?

Answer: The poet does not want to intrude so that the boy can get a chance to learn the real truth of life. He has to learn to accept the loss. The loss here means the most important thing or relationship.

Question2: “.... staring down/All his young days into the harbour where/His ball went” Do you think the boy has had the ball for a long time? Is it linked to the memories of days when he played with it?

Answer: Yes we can say that the boy had the ball for a very long time. The line itself describes how the boy recalls those days when he used to play with the ball. The ball was surely linked to some sweet memories of his playing with the ball.

LONG ANSWER QUESTIONS

Question1: Should the boy be allowed to grieve for his ball? If his loss is irreparable or irretrievable then how should one handle it? What lessons can be learnt?

Answer: Yes, the boy should be allowed to grieve for his ball, as he had that ball for a long time. He had many old memories associated with it since his childhood. Moreover, when a person is trying to come over his grief on his own, then one should not intrude or disturb him as it may break his chain of thoughts and may irritate him. One should have self-consolation, and self -understanding in order to bear the loss. Self-realization and understanding are more effective and lasting than when it is done by an external agency or a person.

Question2: How is the lost ball, the metaphor of the lost childhood of the boy? Why doesn't the poet want to 'intrude on' the boy by offering him money to buy another ball?

Answer: The boy has a ball. Perhaps he has been keeping it for a long time. He must have developed a lot of attachment and love with the ball. Suddenly while he is playing, the ball bounces down the street. And after a few bounces, it falls down into the harbour. It is lost forever. The boy stands there shocked and fixed to the ground. He constantly goes on staring at the spot where his ball fell down into the water. Outwardly, the loss seems to be quite small. The boy seems to be making a fuss over the loss. Many boys have lost such balls and will lose so in future. A new ball can be easily bought in a dime. The metaphor of the lost ball is beautifully linked to the loss of sweet childhood. No amount of money can buy the ball back that has been lost forever. Similarly, no worldly wealth can buy back the lost childhood. The poet doesn't want to sermonize on this issue. The boy himself has to learn epistemology or the nature of the loss. He has to move ahead in life forgetting all the losses he has suffered in the past.

6. AMANDA by Robin Klein

SUMMARY: This poem depicts the state of a little girl's mind who is constantly instructed about do's and don'ts by her elders. She is told not to hunch her shoulders and to sit up straight. She is told to finish her homework and tidy her room. She is forbidden from eating a chocolate that she has. But all the time, the little girl Amanda keeps dreaming of a life of freedom without any restraint. She dreams of mermaids in the sea, of roaming barefoot in the dusty street and of the golden-haired Rapunzel who lived alone in a high tower. She takes no note of what is being said to her. Then she is rebuked by her mother for being moody and sulking all the time.

THEME: In the poem, Amanda!', Robin Klein explores the theme of excessive restraint and control on young children and its consequences. Should parents impose their own wishes and ways on children, or they should allow children to make their own ways of dealing with life? Klein seems to believe in the latter view as his tone is sympathetic to Amanda, who has to face a torrent of constant instructions which she is expected to obey. Klein sees to ask that in such a situation, when will the young Amanda express her own true self?

STANZA WISE EXPLANATION

Stanza 1: Don't bite your nails, Amanda!

Don't hunch your shoulder, Amanda!

Stop that slouching and sit up straight, Amanda!

Explanation: In the above lines, Amanda is getting instructed, most probably, by her parents for biting nails and sitting lazily with her shoulders bent. The tone of instructions here is not a friendly one and thus fails to make any sense to Amanda. The poet here, focusses on the aspects related to the upbringing of a child and how parents go to any limit to bring proper sense to their child. Amanda is thus, getting trained for the society she is a part of. The pressure of making oneself presentable to the society triumphs over every other behavior and manners. The last phrase or word 'Amanda!' is used with an exclamation mark which shows the irritation and frustration of the parent.

Stanza 2 *(There is a languid, emerald sea,
Where the sole inhabitant is mea mermaid, drifting blissfully.)*

Explanation: It is to be noted that the above lines are given within brackets. Brackets are used to provide more meaning to the phrase. Here poet uses it to present the imagination of the little girl, the free-flow of pure thoughts. Amanda uses her imagination as an escape point from day to day commands of her parents.

She feels suffocated in the real world and thus finds peace in her own created world where there are no restraints. Amanda is lost in a world of her own away from the disorders and principles of the society. She imagines herself to be a joyful mermaid sailing without any confines alongside soft waves of the green sea. This world of Amanda is free and contained in itself and her happiness doesn't require any other human being.

It is important to note that Amanda not requiring her father or mother points that she is being tortured by both of them. Her life is not going the way she wants, and there is no one to support her. For a child, mermaid is a symbol of freedom and wonder. Another meaning that is attached with mermaid is that they don't wish to be disturbed as they live in their own environment and would do anything to be like that. For this reason, Amanda wishes to be a mermaid.

Stanza 3 *Did you finish your homework, Amanda?
Did you tidy your room, Amanda?
I thought I told you to clean your shoes, Amanda!*

Explanation: Amanda is now being asked about whether she has finished her homework, or tidied up her room and also whether she has cleaned her shoes. These set of instructions marks a shift from the instructions given in Stanza 1. Now Amanda is being coached about the things that are related to her surroundings. The pattern of instructions explains that how every aspect of her is related to questioning and proper guidance. She is being disciplined for every little thing, making her lose every aspect of hers. Her innocence is eventually getting lost with passage of time. The way these instructions are delivered points out the regular nature of these lessons. Her name is being called again with an exclamation marks shows that the parents seem to be losing their cool and are troubled. They are helpless in bringing correct 'senses' to this girl as she is not paying proper heed to the instructions given by them.

Stanza 4 *(I am an orphan, roaming, the street.
I pattern soft dust with my hushed, bare feet.
The silence is golden, the freedom is sweet.)*

Anyone would think that I nagged at you, Amanda!

Explanation: The parents keep instructing Amanda on the do's and don'ts, but Amanda remains lost in her dreams. The parents believe that Amanda is not reacting because she is annoyed. Amanda's behavior has made her parents look bad and they are worried about their image. They are concerned about how society will perceive them if their child always remains in a foul mood. They want to prove themselves as responsible parents who manage to balance out what the child wants and what the society expects out of Amanda. However, they have already failed in their efforts.

SHORT ANSWER TYPE QUESTIONS

Question1: How life on a tower would be different from life anywhere else for Amanda?

Ans: Life on a tower for Amanda would be very different from her reality. Just like Rapunzel, even she desires to live on top of a tower, away from everyday chaos. Amanda suffers due to the constant nagging from her parents. She seeks a place full of peace and serenity, where there is no one to disturb her. Hence, she wishes to live on a tower.

Question2: What does Amanda yearn for? What does this poem tell you about Amanda?

Ans: Amanda yearns for a life of freedom. She is fed up with the constant nagging of her parents. She wishes that she had been an orphan. This shows that if she had no parents no one would nag her. Then she could move about freely and play where she liked.

VALUE BASED QUESTIONS

Question1: How does Amanda tackle the nagging nature of her parents? Explain with examples from the poem. What values does it portray about Amanda?

Answer: Amanda is a small girl who is termed moody for her careless behavior. But it is very surprising to know that this is her defense mechanism to shield against her nagging parents. Amanda is getting instructions from her parents, which becomes too much to handle for the small girl. She is told not to bite her nails and sit in a proper position. Amanda's response to it her world of imagination where she is a mermaid drifting effortlessly by the languid sea.

Further, she is asked about cleaning her room and finishing her homework to which she reacts being an orphan roaming in the street and making patterns with her bare feet. Amanda then faces the heat for eating a chocolate, which had once caused her acne. She takes the form of Rapunzel and wishes to live on the top of a tower away from everyone in her imagination.

Amanda's parents are upset over her behavior and casualness, but she stays in her own world. All these portray Amanda in a positive light and her parents in a negative light.

Question2: Escapism is one way to run away from harsh realities. Discuss in context to the poem.

Answer: By going through the whole poem, we come to know that Amanda's parents, specially her mother keep instructing Amanda all the time. Amanda's mother intention may be to discipline her daughter and make her a mature person. But very frequent checking and instructing using so many don'ts, leave no space for the child.

Children need love and caring attitude of their elders. An advice in the form of nagging leaves a very harmful impression on the child's mind. The reality becomes harsh for them and they try to escape these realities by indulging in their own fantasy world.

Here in the poem, life of Amanda is quite frustrating as Amanda is forbidden to do anything without seeking permission. Continuous instructions of her mother and correcting her all the times leave a very negative impact on child's personality. In such situation the child adheres to a defense mechanism where she imagines herself to be free and without parents so that no nagging is done.

Amanda drifts into an imaginary situation to escape from the harsh realities of her life. The parents behavior is forcing her to do so, as a result there will not be a balanced development of her personality. Parents need to understand that their child also requires freedom and his/ her own space. If no space is given, child will develop one or the other complex which may hamper his/r normal growth.

SOME EXTRA QUESTIONS

Question1: Why does seem moody most of the time?

Question2: What is the central theme of the poem Amanda?

Question3: 'Amanda is alone but not lonely in the world of envisions.' Justify the statement with reference to any one image she pictures in her mind.

7. The Trees by Adrienne Rich

GIST : The poet talks about trees symbolically. They refer to women who have been healed and are ready to move out of their houses to fulfil their primary purpose - to renew the forest of mankind. As women have remained indoors, the forest has become empty, the birds and insects rendered shelter less. She says that the forest will be full of trees the next morning. The roots of the trees are working hard to separate from the floor of the veranda where they have remained fixed. The leaves and branches are moving towards the glass windows. They are desperate to move out just like a newly discharged patient who has not recovered completely, He moves to the exit door of the hospital in a hurry. The poet is sitting in her house with the doors of the veranda open. She is writing letters but does not mention this movement of the trees. It is night time, the sky is clear and a bright moon is visible. She can smell the leaves and lichen which seem to be calling out desperately. She hears the glass of the window pane breaking. The trees are moving out and the fast-blowing wind embraces them. As the trees have reached the forest, the tall and strong oak tree overshadows the moon and it seems that the moon has been broken into several pieces. The trees inside are moving out into the forest, the forest that was empty all these days where no bird could sit, no insect hide, no sun bury its feet in shadow, the forest that was empty all these nights will be full of trees by morning.

- (b) The small twigs are stiff.
- (c) The boughs are compared to newly discharged patients.
- (d) The leaves strain towards the glass.
- (e) Poem: The Trees, Poetess: Adrienne Rich.

Short Answer Questions (30-40 words)

Q1: - (i) Find three things in the first stanza that cannot happen in a treeless forest?

Ans: The three things mentioned in the first stanza that cannot happen in a treeless forest are:

1. Birds sitting on the tree branches.
2. The hiding of insects in the branches of trees
3. The sun burying its feet in the shadow of the trees in the forest.

(ii) What picture do these words create in your mind: —... sun bury its feet in shadow...||? What could the poet mean by the sun's feet?

Answer: The sun's feet are the rays of sun that reach the earth after falling on the leaves of the trees and finally, reach the earth's surface.

Q2: Where are the trees in the poem? What do their roots, their leaves, and their twigs do?

Answer: The trees are in the poet's house. The roots are working hard to remove themselves from the cracks of veranda. The leaves are making an effort to reach towards the glass in order to come out and the twigs are making attempts to set themselves free and reach the forest.

(i) What does the poet compare their branches to?

Answer: The poet uses the word long cramped for the branches. She says that the branches are trying hard to come out of the roof. She then compares them with newly discharged patients who are trying to move out in their half consciousness.

Long Answer Questions (100-150 Words)

Question1: Now that you have read the poem in detail, we can begin to ask what the poem might mean. Here are two suggestions. Can you think of others?

Does the poem present a conflict between man and nature? Compare it with A Tiger in the zoo. Is the poet suggesting that plants and trees, used for interior decoration in cities while forests are cut down, are imprisoned and need to break out?

Answer: Yes, the poem presents a conflict between man and nature. Man is causing deforestation by cutting down the trees for his own use. On the other hand, he decorates his house with the trees. We are damaging our environment without even thinking about the end results. By clearing up the forests, we are endangering ourselves. So is with the animals too. We are ruining their natural habitat and killing them for our fun or food but on the other hand, we are keeping them in the cages on the pretext of safeguarding them by making sanctuaries and zoos. So, it is true that we are in a direct conflict with nature and making the other living creatures prisoners, be it the trees or animals.

Question2: On the other hand, Adrienne Rich has been known to use trees as a metaphor for human beings; this is a recurrent image in her poetry. What new meanings emerge from the poem if you take its trees to be symbolic of this particular meaning?

Answer: If trees are to be taken as a symbol for human beings, then the poem will define the efforts of humans to free themselves from the clutches of the desire to achieve everything. All the human beings are under a constant pressure of being at the top in every field. Either they are forced by their own desire of doing so or there is a constant peer pressure on them. So, the human beings will set themselves free from this race and try to live a happy and peaceful life.

8.FOG by Carl Sandburg

GIST : Fog is a very small poem written by Carl Sandburg. He has described the process of arrival of the fog into a city and the harbour. He has very beautifully compared it to a cat. The poet says that the fog which is generally seen during the winter season is coming towards the city and the harbour just like a cat. This means that it is approaching the city in a very silent manner so that no one can notice its arrival. He has compared its arrival to that of a cat because a cat always enters a place silently. Next, he says that the fog has covered the whole of the city and harbour and it appears as if it is sitting by folding its legs and looking around just the way a cat does when it sits on the haunches and looks around. At the end, he describes the departure of the fog which very silently and unpredictably, again, similar to the departure of the cat, vanishes.

Extract Based Comprehension Questions:

1. The fog comes on little cat feet.

It sits looking over harbour and city on silent haunches and then moves on.

Questions:

- (a) How does the fog come? A: The fog comes on little cat feet.
- (b) What does the fog do in the end? A: In the end, the fog marches on.
- (c) For what does "it" stand in the third line? A: "It" stands for the fog.
- (a) (d) Name the poem and the poet. A:- The name of the poem is Fog' and the poet's name is Carl Sandburg.

Short Answer Questions (30-40 Words)

Question1: How does the poet compare fog to a living being?

Answer: The poet compares the fog to a cat. The silent steps of a cat and the way it sits on its haunches is very similar to the way fog comes and surrounds the city and looks over it.

Question2: What image does the poet give to the fog? What are the similarities between that image and fog?

Answer: The poet looks at fog as a living creature and compares it to a cat. The fog moves like a cat on little cat feet and sits on haunches like a cat.

Additional SAQ for practice

1. How is the fog like a cat? What poetic device is used by the poet here?

2. Name the three things that tell us that the fog is like a cat.

Long Answer Questions: (100-150 words)

Question1: Difficulties come but they are not to stay forever. They come and go. Comment referring to the poem 'Fog'.

Answer: Difficulties, when faced by people, tend to leave them hopeless and shattered. It takes a lot of courage to overcome any problem and to solve it. If we take a clue from the poem and compare difficulties to fog, we find that just like fog, difficulties also come and go. Fog is a very small poem written by Carl Sandburg. He has described the process of arrival of the fog into a city and the harbour. He has very beautifully compared it to a cat. One need not be hopeless and lose courage when problems come, one should rather think of it as fog, meaning that it has not come to stay but will always leave, like fog.

Question2: Nature has many wonders that people take for granted and never pay attention to. How is the poem 'Fog' different from this perspective?

Answer: Fog is a very small poem written by Carl Sandburg. He has described the process of arrival of the fog into a city and the harbour. He has very beautifully compared it to a cat. The poet has taken utmost pleasure in nature and natural phenomenon like fog. Fog is so special to the poet that he cared enough not only to write about it, but also thinks of its resemblance with other things in the world. In his close attention to fog, he found fog resembles a cat, in the way it moves and sits on its haunches. The fact that such a resemblance was found by the poet shows how connected he is to various things in nature. This poem serves as a motivation for people, who take nature for granted to find such interesting comparisons and similarities around them.

9. THE TALE OF CUSTARD THE DRAGON by Ogden Nash

GIST : The Tale of Custard the Dragon is a whimsical fantasy. Belinda lives alone in her house with four pets, a dog, a cat, a mouse and a dragon named Custard. All other dwellers of the house except Custard, pride themselves on their fearlessness. They mock poor Custard for his timidity. However, when the real danger comes all others run away in a panic except Custard. Only Custard fights ferociously and swallows the pirate. The poem ends ironically. After the danger is past, everyone begins to boast again about their courage. Ironically, Custard who fought like a hero against the pirate agrees that everyone else is braver than he is. So, appearances may be deceptive. And even your merit and real value may not be recognised by your unwilling rivals.

Extract Based Comprehension Questions:

1- Custard the dragon had big sharp teeth, And spikes on top of him and scales underneath, Mouth like a fireplace, chimney for a nose, And realio, trulio, daggers on his toes.

Question

(a) What did the dragon look like?

A:-The Dragon had spikes on top and scale underneath. His mouth was like a fireplace and nose was like a chimney. He looked dangerous as his toes looked like daggers.

(b) Why the dragon's mouth is called a chimney?

A:-Dragons can spit fire; therefore, Custard's mouth has been called a fireplace.

(c) Which word in the stanza means the same as —a small sword?

A:- The word is Dagger.

(a) Find from the passage a word which means a structure through which smoke or steam is carried up away from a fire. A:- The word is Chimney.

2- Suddenly, suddenly they heard a nasty sound,
And Mustard growled, and they all looked around.
Meowch! cried Ink, and Ooh! cried Belinda,
For there was a pirate, climbing in the winda.

Question

- b. Why was everyone frightened? A:Everyone was frightened because a pirate was climbing up the window.
- c. Which word in the stanza means —unpleasant? A: The word is Nasty.
- d. What does a nasty sound refer to? A: A nasty sound refers to the entry of a pirate into the house.

SHORT ANSWER QUESTIONS: (30-40 Words)

Question1: How did Custard the dragon face the pirate? What was the outcome of their fight?

Answer: Custard the dragon jumped up snorting. He clashed his tail. Thus, he prepared himself to face the pirate. The pirate was amazed at this heroic gesture of the dragon. He gulped some wine to cheer up his drooping spirits. He fired two bullets but missed the aim. In the meantime, Custard the dragon swallowed him.

Question2: How did Belinda and her pets behave when the pirate had been killed by Custard?

Answer: When the pirate had been killed by Custard, Belinda embraced him, Mustard licked him and Ink and Blink gyrated around him.

LONG ANSWER QUESTIONS (100-150 Words)

Question1: The dragon, custard was considered a coward. The humble dragon proved his bravery in adversity. Analyse that certain qualities like bravery and courage are situational and spontaneous. Express your views with reference to the poem.

Answer: Custard's humbleness won every reader's heart as he showed true bravery and did not boast like Belinda and her other pets. Everyone boasted of their bravery but when they faced real danger, it was only Custard, who had the courage to face it. And he proved his bravery by not running away and facing the pirate and killing him. Qualities like bravery and courage can only be tested when someone is actually put in a dangerous situation. Therefore, these qualities are situational as becomes clear from Custard's example. Custard looked for comfort all the time but this did not mean that he was a coward.

Question2: Do you think that one should be made fun of because of their preferences and choices in life? Explain in the context of Custard, the dragon.

Answer: It is not right to make fun of anyone on the basis of their life style and their choices. Custard, the dragon, always wanted comfort and safety for him and therefore always cried for a nice safe cage. Belinda and other pets of the house made fun of him because they thought that he was a coward. Custard proved that just because he likes comfort, he is not a coward. In fact, he was the only one, who had the courage to face the pirate and kill him.

10. FOR ANNE GREGORY by William Butler Yeats

Themes: The poem explores the themes of the nature of love and the role of physical appearance in romantic love. Through the means of dialogue between the Anne Gregory and the poet the conflict is established between society's standards for love based on physical appearance and the love based on inner qualities regardless of the appearance which Anne Gregory desires.

Summary: The poem is a conversation between Anne Gregory and the poet where they discuss the nature of love. The poet tells her that the only reason young men fall in love with her is because of her beauty, and their sadness over her rejection has nothing to do with her inner beauty or true love.

Anne Gregory replies, that she would change the colour of her hair to reduce her beauty so that young men could love her for her inner beauty and not her outer appearance.

The poet responds by telling her that the only one who can love her for her inner beauty is God and no one else.

Extract Based questions

1.Never shall a young man thrown into despair
By those great honey coloured

Ramparts at your ear
Love you for yourself alone
And not your yellow hair

a. Based on the above lines which of the following options best describe the attitude of the speaker?

i. Angry and judgmental

ii. Kind and considerate

iii. Sad and melancholic

iv. Introspective and thoughtful

b. What does the phrase 'yellow hair' signify?

i. The colour of Anne Gregory's hair

ii. A symbol for Anne Gregory's beauty

iii. A metaphor for a fort

iv. The dye colour for Anne Gregory's hair.

c. Comment on the use of metaphor in the poem.

Ans. Anne Gregory's hair has been compared to ramparts of a fort, to signify their denseness and their beauty and also just like ramparts protect a fort, her hair hides her face from being seen.

d. Why are the young men thrown in despair?

Ans. Anne Gregory's beauty is so great that the young men are thrown in despair because they cannot attain it.

2. But I can get a hair-dye

And set such color there,

Brown or black, or carrot,

That young men in despair

May love me for myself alone

And not my yellow hair

a. Which of the following describes best the tone of the speaker?

i. Argumentative ii. Joyful iii. Mournful iv. Excited

b. Read statements 1 and 2 given below and choose the option that correctly assesses these statements.

1 – The speaker wants to change her hair color so that it may appeal to young men.

2 – The speaker's appearance, due to her gorgeous yellow hair, is largely the reason young men hope to get her attention.

A 1 is false, 2 is true and clearly inferred from the poem.

B 1 is true, 2 cannot be clearly inferred from the poem.

C 1 cannot be clearly inferred from the poem, 2 is false.

D 1 is true and can be inferred from the poem, 2 is false.

c. Comment on the use of 'dialogue' in the poem.

The poet uses dialogue in the poem to convey different perspectives on the idea of love, while not favouring any one argument over the other. It allows the reader the freedom to draw their own conclusions.

d. Comment on the use of 'symbolism' in the poem.

The poet uses hair as the symbol of beauty and its fleeting nature and how it can be changed by simply changing its colour.

Long answer type questions: (100-120 words)

'People are more than just their appearance.' Justify the statement with reference to the poem 'For Anne Gregory'.

Ours is a superficial world. We often base our impressions on how people look, rather than look deeper. In the poem, the poet and Anne get into an argument regarding the nature of true love.

While the poet is of the opinion that people are attracted to Anne only because of her beauty. Anne on the other hand, shows greater depth and wants to be loved for the kind of person she is, and not for her looks.

She wants to rise above the shallow standards set by the society and is even willing to reduce her beauty by cutting her hair, just so she can find someone who loves her for who she is and not just her looks.

Comment on the notion of love referencing the poem 'For Anne Gregory'.

Love is of many kinds. The love one has for their family, friends or even pets. In the poem, the love that is in discussion is romantic love, and whether such love can be truly unaffected by one's physical appearance. Society's notion of love is based on physical appearances. Beautiful people tend to be loved by more people, but such love is superficial and skin deep. True love requires knowing and understanding them on a deeper level, which takes a lot of work and effort. The poem makes a point that sometimes beauty might even get in the way of true love, and Anne Gregory wants to hamper her beauty just so she can find someone who loves her for who she is.

SELF ASSESSMENT

1. How does the poet personify the idea of love?
2. Why does the Anne want to change the colour of her hair?
3. Explain the relevance of God in the poet's argument.

1. A TRIUMPH OF SURGERY

Summary: 'A Triumph of Surgery' by James Herriot is a fascinating story narrating how a veterinarian surgeon, Mr. Herriot, cures Tricky, an obese and morbidly ill pet dog. Tricky's mistress, Mrs. Pumphrey loved Tricky a bit too much and kept feeding her at all times thinking that Tricky is suffering from malnutrition. She spends a lot of money to feed him health supplements and delicacies that lead to obesity and consequent illness.

Tricky was fed sweets, pastries, meat preparations, cod liver oil, Horlicks, malt etc. to maintain his health. He was not being taken out for walks nor was he provided the opportunity to exercise. Improper diet and lack of exercise had made Tricky sick. Being an indulgent owner, Mrs Pumphrey couldn't understand what she was doing wrong as she had engaged an army of servants to look after the needs of Tricky. Tricky has a closet of clothes and coats and blankets for different occasions and seasons. The servants of the Mrs Pumphrey's household were serving Tricky round the clock.

When Tricky became so ill that his eyes became rheumy and his body looked like "bloated sausage" and he could no longer move or eat or drink fluids, Mrs Pumphrey called for veterinarian surgeon Mr Herriot. Mr. Herriot, who had already known about Tricky's condition from a previous encounter, had seen this coming. He had decided that he would admit Tricky in his clinic by convincing Mrs Pumphrey that her beloved pet requires a surgery.

When Tricki was being taken to the clinic, a load full of belongings that ranged from exotic food items to clothing for every season and different kinds of bed was packed in a luxurious car for the comfort of Tricki. Mrs Pumphrey was inconsolable and wished to go to the clinic with Tricki. But Mr. Herriot knew that separating Tricki from his mistress was of utmost importance for Tricki's recovery.

While Tricki was in the clinic, he was put in an enclosure with all other dogs. He was given nothing but water for the first two days and from the third day he was fed ordinary dog food along with other dogs. Tricki, who was used to being pampered, didn't understand how to compete against other dogs to eat. Gradually, he found out a way to do so. Not just that, he started playing with other dogs in the clinic as well. He got plenty of exercise, fresh air, and a diet that suited his body. Within few weeks, Tricki had regained his health. Meanwhile, Mrs Pumphrey was sending eggs, wine, meat, and sweets to the clinic every day so that her pet, but all these were enjoyed by Mr. Herriot and his colleagues in the clinic. Because of the wine and fine meat that they could enjoy every day, the people in the clinic were tempted to keep Tricki for a bit longer.

After his recovery, Mrs Pumphrey came to pick him up. She was surprised to see the marvelous recovery of Tricki and exclaimed that it was indeed a "triumph of surgery".

FLOWCHART OF EVENTS IN THE STORY

Mr. Herriot has a chance meeting with Mrs Pumphrey and her pet dog, Tricki.

He foresees Tricki falling ill and makes a plan to admit him in the name of surgery to make him healthy.

As predicted, Tricki falls ill and is taken to Mr. Herriot's clinic.

Tricki is made to eat less and exercise a lot in fresh air and play in the company of other dogs.

Tricki recovers fully and returns to his home.

Mrs. Pumphrey exclaims that Tricki's recovery is a "triumph of surgery."

CHARACTER SKETCH :

1. Mrs. Pumphrey : Mrs. Pumphrey is the rich mistress of Tricki. She showers all her love and affection on him. Her love for Tricki is doing more harm than good to the poor animal. Her indulgence leads to Tricki becoming ill and inactive. What she fails to understand is that an individual, be it an animal or a human being, requires everything in moderation. She keeps on overfeeding her dog as she believes that eating more and more of delicious food items will make him healthy. Mrs. Pumphrey is often ignoring the advice of doctors. Even when she is told that she needs to give less food to Tricky and ensure that he is getting enough exercise, she chooses not to pay heed to such advice and do what she considers is the right thing to do.

2. Mr. Herriot: Mr. Herriot is the narrator of this story and the veterinarian surgeon who cured Tricky. Herriot is a sincere doctor who takes his job seriously. He has genuine concern for his patients. Rather than prescribing expensive remedies, he believes in simple cures. Mr. Herriot is a skilled professional as he can predict how far the illness of an animal can progress just by having a glance. When the story opens, we find him telling the readers how he could foresee that Tricky would soon be requiring his services just by having a look at him during a chance meeting on a street.

He had the chance of manipulating and extracting the most out of Mrs. Pumphrey as she had enormous wealth and was blinded by her love for Tricky. He chose not to do so as his primary duty was to take care of animals.

EXTRACT BASED QUESTIONS

EXTRACT 1 I tried to sound severe: "Now! I really mean this. If you don't cut his food right down and give him more exercise, he is going to be really ill. You must harden your heart and keep him on a very strict diet."

Question1: Why did the speaker try to sound severe?

Answer- The speaker tried to sound severe to make Mrs. Pumphrey take his advice seriously and act on it rather than ignoring it like she always does.

Question2: For whom was the advice given and why?

Answer- The advice was given for Tricky because he had become obese and listless. He was unwell and the speaker wanted him to be on a strict diet and get some exercise.

Question3: What impression do you form about Mrs. Pumphrey from the extract given above?

Answer- Mr. Herriot's stern warning makes the reader understand that Mrs. Pumphrey is not someone who would follow the advice of a doctor seriously. She dotes on her pet Tricky and wants the best for him but she hardly follows the advice of the doctor. She is an indulgent owner who believes that feeding everything delicious and "healthy" and showering him with luxuries will do wonders for her dog. She does not understand that even love should be showered within limitations.

EXTRACT 2: As I moved off, Mrs. Pumphrey, with a despairing cry, threw an armful of the little coats through the window. I look in the mirror before I turned the corner of the drive; everybody was in tears.

Question1: Where was the speaker going and with whom?

Answer- The speaker, Mr. Herriot, the veterinarian surgeon, had come to Mrs. Pumphrey's residence to take Tricki to his clinic as he had become extremely ill.

Question2: Why was everybody in tears?

Answer- Everybody in Mrs. Pumphrey's household was in tears as Tricki was being taken away by Mr. Herriot for a surgery. The entire household was devoted to making life comfortable for Tricki and it was quite upsetting for them to watch Tricki being taken away due to an illness.

Question3: From the extract given above, what idea do you form about the lifestyle of Tricki?

Answer- Tricki was living an extravagantly luxurious life. He had people who were solely devoted to the task of looking after him. He even had several items of clothing.

SHORT ANSWER QUESTIONS (40-50 words)

Question1: Why is Mrs. Pumphrey worried about Tricki?

Answer- Mrs. Pumphrey is worried about Tricki as he is quite fat and listless. He has lost his appetite. He often vomits and lies down motionless on the carpet. His eyes have become blood-shot and rheumy.

Question2: What special diet did Mrs. Pumphrey give to build Tricki up?

Answer- Mrs. Pumphrey thought that her dog must be suffering from malnutrition. So, to build him up she gave him little treats in-between meals. She gave him some malt, cod-liver oil, and a bowl of Horlicks at night.

LONG ANSWER QUESTIONS (120 words)

Question1: Herriot enjoyed the lavish meal during Tricki's stay. Yet he felt compelled to inform Mrs. Pumphrey about Tricki's recovery. Why did he not keep Tricki for a longer time? Did he feel concerned for Mrs. Pumphrey?

Answer- Tricki was a fat dog, pet of Mrs. Pumphrey. He became listless and seemed to have no energy. It fell ill. So, Mrs. Pumphrey called the veterinary surgeon, Dr Herriot for the help. Dr Herriot took Tricki to his surgery. He kept an eye on him for two days and gave him no food but plenty of water. At the end of the second day, he started showing some interest in his surroundings and on the third day, began to whimper on the sound of dogs. While his stay at the surgery, Mrs. Pumphrey started to bring round fresh eggs to a dozen at a time. She also sent bottles of wine and brandy for Tricki's health. But that was consumed by Mr. Herriot and his colleagues. Hence, Herriot enjoyed the stay of Tricki. He did not want to keep Tricki for a longer time because he felt concerned for Mrs. Pumphrey. He did not want to separate the pet from his owner. He could understand Mrs. Pumphrey's concern for the little dog. So, he returned him back.

Question2: Present a character sketch of Dr. James Herriot highlighting his common sense, practical nature and competence as a veterinary surgeon.

Answer-Dr. James Herriot, no doubt, was a competent veterinary surgeon. He was really worried about Tricki. He understood that the real fault of the dog was his greed for food. He never refused food. The dog had become hugely fat and listless. Dr Herriot instructed Mrs. Pumphrey to keep Tricki on a very strict diet. He also asked her to give him a lot of exercises. Dr Herriot also suggested to cut down sweets to him. He advised her that Tricki must be hospitalized for a fortnight under his observation. Dr. James Herriot was practical and pragmatic. He did not give any medical treatment to the dog. The dog was not given food any but lots of water. His method worked. Tricki's recovery was surprisingly rapid. Tricki was transformed into a flexible and hard-muscled dog. He was not only out of danger but was soon handed over to his mistress. The grateful mistress thanked Dr Herriot and called his feat "a triumph of surgery!" Dr James was clever enough to enjoy the best of both the worlds. He was tempted to keep Tricki on as a permanent guest. It was a happy period for Dr Herriot and his friends. He enjoyed eggs for breakfast, and wine and brandy for lunch.

3.The Midnight Visitor by Robert Arthur

SUMMARY: Ausable is a detective residing in a posh hotel in Paris in order to obtain and protect a secret document on missiles. He has the company of Fowler, a writer, who has come to Ausable with the hope of finding a story full of adventure, thrill, and suspense. Fowler is disappointed as Ausable does nothing except receiving and making some routine calls. He questions his decision of following Ausable.

Ausable is nothing like the stereotypical image of a detective. He is fat and stout and far from being charismatic. He possesses no weapons and has no athletic abilities. He wheezes while walking.

Physical activities exhaust him. He doesn't even have a flair with languages that might help him in disguising as someone else. Being from Boston, he speaks with a heavy American accent.

In his hotel room, Ausable encounters Max. Max is slender, athletic, sharp looking and agile. He is carrying a gun to threaten Ausable. Fowler gets excited as he might finally get to witness something quite interesting. Max asks Ausable to give him the documents related to the missiles. Ausable immediately informs him that the police are after him and might break in at any moment to take possession of the documents. This scares Max. Ausable tells him that the room in which he is residing was part of a bigger room before the renovation of the hotel. A balcony is attached to the room and can be accessed through the window. The door to the balcony is in the next room. He further adds that many people have tried to break in through the window, making the story sound plausible. As Max hears someone knock on the door, he rushes towards the window and climbs on it while keeping the gun pointed towards Ausable. As the door knob turns, Max jumps down from the window. A waiter comes in with a bottle of wine and two glasses. Max falls from the 6th floor as there was no balcony on the other side of the window.

FLOWCHART OF THE EVENTS IN THE STORY

Fowler feels disappointed about choosing to follow Ausable.

Ausable goes about his work, makes some calls and talks to several people.

Max breaks into his room and asks for the secret document.

Ausable tells him an elaborate story involving the police which scares Max.

Ausable tells him how he can escape through the window.

Max jumps from the window when he hears someone knock on the door.

CHARACTER ANALYSIS

1. AUSABLE-Ausable was a sloppy and fat secret agent. He was an intelligent and smart man. He used to speak in an American accent which he got from Boston twenty years back. He could also speak French and German, he was the spy who used to deal with danger and secrets. He was known for his quick wit and acumen traits. He even befooled Max by cooking up the police story, he was so convincing that Max jumped off the window. The story was so well fabricated that Max didn't doubt it once. He had a great sense of humour which was seen when he was talking with Fowler. He was also a greedy man.

EXTRACT BASED QUESTIONS

EXTRACT 1 :Max was slender, a little less than tall, with features that suggested slightly the crafty, pointed countenance of a fox. There was about him — aside from the gun — nothing especially menacing. “The report,” he murmured. “The report that is being brought to you tonight concerning some new missiles. I thought I would take it from you. It will be safer in my hands than in yours.” Ausable moved to an armchair and sat down heavily. ‘I’m going to raise the devil with the management this time, and you can bet on it,’ he said grimly. “This is the second time in month that a somebody has got into my room through that nuisance of a balcony!”

- i. Owning a gun gave a menacing impression to Max’s character because
- a) A gun is only used by police officials. b) He was carrying it without any official license.
- c) A gun has a threatening implication. d) The gun was particularly huge.
- ii. Choose the option that displays the correct analogy.
- a) crafty: fox :: menacing: gun b) report: missile :: management: devil
- c) crafty: fox :: management: balcony d) armchair: grim :: balcony: nuisance
- iii. Choose the part of the house through which Ausable thought Max had entered his room.
- a) Option 1 b) Option 2 c) Option 3 d) Option 4
- iv. Why did Max enter Ausable’s room? A:- Max entered Ausable’s hotel room to get an important report by force.
- v. Which word replaces ‘sat down heavily’ in the sentence — ‘Ausable moved to an armchair and sat down heavily’? a) dumped b) flumped c) pumped d) jumped Extract 2: Ausable did not fit any description of a secret agent Fowler had ever read. Following him down the musty corridor of the gloomy French hotel where Ausable had a room, Fowler felt let down. It was a small room, on the sixth and top floor, and scarcely a setting for a romantic adventure. Ausable was, for one thing, fat. Very fat. And then there was his accent. Though he spoke French and German passably, he had never altogether lost the American accent he had brought to Paris from Boston twenty years ago.

“You are disappointed,” Ausable said wheezily over his shoulder.

- i. “Following him down the musty corridor of the gloomy French hotel where Ausable had a room...” Choose the correct option to replace the underlined words.
- a) expansive; abnormal b) lighted; formal
- c) damp; dingy d) uncanny; smart
- ii. What is special about Ausable’s language?

Ausable spoke French and German passably with an American accent.

Answer. A good spy need not be handsome, attractive and smart. Physical strength can be an additional advantage but certainly not the essential one. Secret agents have to face critical situations at every step. One night, Ausable found Max in his room. There was an automatic pistol in his hand. He had come there to take the report from Ausable. Max was also a secret agent of another organisation. Ausable was not the least afraid of Max's presence. He thought of a clever trick. He convinced Max about a balcony outside the window. Just then there was a loud knock at the door. Ausable told Max that it was police to provide him security. Max had no time to think. Max rushed towards the window and dropped to the non-existent balcony and met his tragic end. Ausable did not use physical strength. He won over the critical situation by his sheer presence of mind.

Question2: Describe how Max was duped by Ausable?

Answer: Ausable created a detailed description of how his room was a part of a bigger apartment and how the next had a direct connection with a balcony. His statement that somebody else had also broken into his office through that balcony made it a convincing story. Ausable did this to fool Max into thinking that a balcony existed just outside the window, as he knew that soon the waiter bringing the drinks he had ordered would be knocking at the door, which may prompt Max to jump into the imaginary balcony to hide and when the waiter knocked at the door, Ausable again befooled Max by saying that it was the police who wanted to come inside to provide him protection. Max wanted to run away to avoid the police and jumps to his death into that non-existent balcony.

1. What are the follies in Max's judgement?
2. How are Max and Ausable different from each other?

4.A QUESTION OF TRUST- -Victor Canning

THEME

- A Question of Trust focusses on the message that we should not trust anyone blindly without finding out the truth about that person.
- The central idea is that cheats also expect honesty in their profession but as it is wisely said that "you must set a thief to catch a thief".

- Intentions justify the actions. If a wrong act is committed unintentionally, it can be excused but Horace Danby had the intention to rob the house, thus it is not excusable.
- Negative values never pay in the long run. Every criminal has his punishment sooner or later.

SUMMARY

This story is about a thief who gets a taste of his own medicine. Horace Danby can be termed as a thief with a difference. He had a good reputation in society but was not completely honest as society perceived him. He had served his first and only sentence in a prison library. He was fifty and unmarried. He made locks with two helpers. He steals only once in a year. He stole enough to last for twelve months. He is fond of books and spends most of his booty on buying books. He plans meticulously before attempting a burglary. During his burglary attempt at a big house, he gathers all the necessary information and enters the house for stealing from the safe. He is cheated by a lady thief, who claims herself to be the owner of the house. Finally, Horace ends up in prison only to repent at the way he was deceived by a person from his own profession. Horace regrets and gets angry when anyone talks about “honour among thieves”.

FLOW CHART

Horace Danby, about fifty and unmarried had a good reputation in society. He made locks along with two helpers. He loved rare and expensive books. He robbed a safe every year. He was now out on committing a robbery.

He had studied the house, Shotover Grange to burgle it. On entering the house he started sneezing due to allergy of flowers.

He heard the voice of a woman who stood on the doorway, who told him that he could cure his sneeze. The woman was young and pretty.

On seeing the woman Horace at first thought to run away but the woman threatened him to ring and call the police. He pleaded her to let him go.

She promised to heed to his request on one condition that he would open the safe for her, as she needed the jewels kept inside it to wear them to a party. But she had forgotten the numbers to open the safe.

After two days a policeman had arrested him for the jewel robbery at Shotover Grange as his finger prints were found all over the room as he had opened the safe without putting on his gloves.

He tried to explain his point but the police said that the lady of the house was a sixty-year-old woman rather than a young woman.

At last Horace was imprisoned and in the prison he often thought about the charming and clever young lady who had tricked him. She was in the same profession as him.

After this treachery Danby gets angry when anyone talks to him about “honour among thieves”

CHARACTER SKETCH:

1. Horace Danby: Horace Danby was about fifty years old and unmarried. Everyone thought him a good and honest citizen. He was otherwise very well and happy except for attacks of hay fever in summer. He made locks and was fairly successful at his business. Horace Danby was good and respectable but not completely honest. He used to rob a safe every year. He used to do so because he needed money to buy books. He had a passion for buying rare and costly books. He would rob only the rich person. He never hurt anyone and carried no weapon with him. He was not very aggressive and didn't want to go to prison.
2. The Lady in Red: The lady in red is gifted with a rare personality. She is full of confidence. She acts like a perfect actress presenting herself as the lady of the house. Even the dog was rubbing against her in a friendly manner. In a very subtle way, she told Horace that she wanted to wear the jewels in the safe to a party that night. She made him open the safe without gloves. Horace willingly hands over the jewels and she decamps with them.

EXTRACT BASED QUESTIONS

I. “How foolish people are when they own valuable things, Horace thought. A magazine article had described this house, giving a plan of all the rooms and a picture of this room. The writer had even mentioned that the painting hid a safe! But Horace found that the flowers were hindering him in his work. He buried his face in his handkerchief. Then he heard a voice say from the doorway, “What is it? A cold or Hay fever?” before he could think, Horace said, “Hay fever”, and found himself sneezing again. The voice went on, ‘You can cure it with a special treatment, you know, if you find out just what plant gives you the disease. I think you'd better see a doctor, if you're serious about your work. I heard you from the top of the house just now.’”

c. You can cure it with a special treatment
d. I think you’d better see a doctor, if you’re serious about your work.

II. But he never got the chance to begin his plan. By noon a policeman had arrested him for the jewel robbery at Shotover Grange. His fingerprints, for he had opened the safe without gloves, were all over the room, and no one believed him when he said that the wife of the owner of the house had asked him to open the safe for her. The wife herself, a gray-haired, sharp-tongued woman of sixty, said that the story was nonsense. Horace is now the assistant librarian in the prison. He often thinks of charming, clever young lady who was in the same profession as he was, and who tricked him. He gets very angry when anyone talks about ‘honour among thieves’.

Q1. The plan devised by Horace was to

- a. Tell about the safe to owner of the house.
b. blackmail the wife of the owner later
c. look for another safe for stealing books.
d. tell police the truth before the lady could deceive him.

Q2. Based on the extract, choose what you think are the main feelings Horace probably has, for the young lady who tricked him, when he thinks about her?

- a. Anger and blame b. Admiration and respect
c. Respect and gratitude d. Anger and vengeance

Q3. Choose the option that lists the evidence that the police might have used against Horace, to arrest him.

- a. Safe b. Lady c. Gloves d. Fingerprints

Q4. Honour among thieves is an example of a/an

- a. Idiom b. Slogan c. Proverb d. Lyric

Q5. What is the meaning of 'Honour among thieves'?

- a. Thieves will not steal from each other
b. Criminals observe a moral code of honour in what they do
c. Not do anything illegal to their partners in crime.
d. All of the above

SHORT ANSWER QUESTIONS (30-40 Words):

6. FOOTPRINTS WITHOUT FEET - H. G. Wells

SUMMARY: The story is about a scientist named Griffin. Who had discovered a drug which could make a man invisible and finally swallowed the drug himself, making him invisible. He was first noticed by two boys on the staircase of a house where they could just see his footsteps and started following it. They follow it until the footsteps are fainter and cannot be seen. First as he is feeling cold, he enters a mall for some warmth. After the stores shutdown he decides to wear some warm clothes and eat something. He first unboxed a few clothes and wore them. Then from the kitchen of a restaurant he eats cold meat and some coffee. Later he goes to a grocery store and eats sweets and drinks wine. He then falls asleep on a pile of quilts. He then wakes up in the morning when some of the store assistants had seen him and started chasing him. He quickly threw away all the clothes he was wearing and became invisible again. Then he started roaming around again without any clothes in the cold winters of London. He then decides to steal clothes from a theatre company as he knew he would get something there to cover his face as well. He then steals bandages for his face, dark glasses, false nose and a hat for covering himself. He then hits the shopkeeper and steals all his money. Soon he realizes that London is too crowded to live like this and decides that he would go to a remote village. He books two rooms at an inn at the Iping village. He reaches there and it is strange for the people of Iping that a stranger with such a weird appearance has come to stay at an inn during the winter season. Once his money is over, he steals from people and also hits the landlord and his wife when they try to check his room in his absence. Then the village constable is asked for help but before that Mrs. Hall, the wife of the landlord asks him questions regarding who he is and what he did to her furniture. This makes him really furious and he decides to show her who he really is. The people then see a headless man and Mr. Jaffers, the constable also finds out that he would have to arrest a man who does not have a head. They are unable to catch Griffin as he removes all his clothes and becomes invisible. He even knocks out Jaffers as he tries to catch him.

FLOW CHART

Griffin a scientist discovers a rare drug which can make a person invisible

↓
His landlord dislikes him. Griffin wants to revenge on him

↓
He swallows the drug and puts the house on fire. He puts off his clothes, becomes invisible and runs away.

The weather was cold and he felt the need of clothes. He slipped inside a store stole clothes had a meal and slept inside the store at night.

(a) Mrs Hall felt that the room was haunted by spirits because:

(i) she could see evil spirits.

(ii) she heard strange noise.

(iii) uncanny things happened there.

(iv) the door slammed shut.

(b) Pick the option that best describes how Mrs Hall must be feeling at the moment described in the extract.

(i) Stunned and furious

(ii) Shocked and outraged

(iii) Outraged and nervous

(iv) Stunned and agitated

(c) Pick the sentence that brings out the meaning of 'hysterics' as used in the extract.

(i) My friend and I were in splits when we saw the clown's antics.

(ii) I don't know why I suddenly felt worried about flying home.

(iii) The sight of blood put the old man in a frenzy,

(iv) The people who had witnessed the accident were spellbound.

(d) Pick the option that displays a cause -> effect relationship.

(i) Pushed and locked out->hysterical

(ii) Rising of the chair. ->moaning

(iii) Troubled neighbours -> witchcraft

(iv) Stranger -> haunted spirits

(e) The neighbours thought it was 'witchcraft'. This tells us that 'neighbours' were:

(i) suspicious

(ii) superstitious

(iii) nervous wrecks

(iv) gossip-mongers

SHORT ANSWER QUESTIONS (30-40 WORDS)

Question1: "Griffin was rather a lawless person" Comment.

Answer: Griffin never thought twice before harming anybody. He put his landlord's house on fire. Then his stealing acts at shops and later in the village indicate towards this. When he was encountered by the landlady of the inn, he threw chair at her and her husband. Lawless persons never think about safety and well-being of others. They are always preoccupied by their benefits only.

Question2: How would you assess Griffin as a Scientist?

Answer: Griffin is a brilliant scientist which is evident from his drug of invisibility. But he seems to enjoy the feeling of power which he got out of his invisibility. The power to hurt anybody without getting noticed can give sadistic pleasure to somebody. A true scientist makes discovery for the larger benefit of the society.

Question3: What did Halls see in the scientist's room?

Answer: As the door was open and nobody appeared to be inside, Halls entered the scientist's room. They saw that the bedclothes were cold, showing that the scientist must have been up for some time and stranger still, the clothes and bandages that he always wore were lying about the room.

LONG ANSWER QUESTIONS (100-150 WORDS)

Q1: Would you like to become invisible? What advantages and disadvantages do you foresee, if you did?

Answer: It can be an exciting idea for most of the people. Like two facets of coin; invisibility can have many advantages and disadvantages. For a child, invisibility may mean a license to do all kinds of pranks without getting caught. Like a Hindi movie, invisibility can help you beat all the villains black and blue and get rid of them. Once you become invisible, nobody would notice you. Within no time, the sadness of isolation will take over the excitement of being invisible. You will have no friend. You will tend to behave like the eccentric scientist in this story.

Q2: What extraordinary things happen at the inn?

Answer: The landlord of the inn and his wife were surprised to see the doors of Griffin's room open. They looked inside and found that nobody was inside the room and decided to investigate. They found it strange that his room's door was open as he never liked anyone even trying to enter his room. All of a sudden, while investigating, Mrs. Hall heard a sniff next to her ear and was hit by Griffin's hat on the face. Then the chair in the room charged towards Mrs. Hall and hit her in her legs. As they both turned in terror, the chair pushed both of them out of the room and the door was slammed and suddenly a locking sound was heard. Mrs. Hall was scared and felt that the furniture was haunted by spirits and it was the stranger's work. The nearby people started talking that the work was that of witchcraft.

6.The making of a Scientist by Robert W Peterson

SUMMARY: "The Making of a Scientist" by Robert W. Peterson is the story of Richard H. Ebright's journey from a young boy with a passion for collecting things to becoming a renowned scientist. His mother's support, his persistent curiosity, and his commitment to conducting real experiments played key roles in his growth. From tagging monarch butterflies to discovering an unknown insect hormone in high school, Ebright's story underscores the power of exploration, persistence, and learning from failures in the pursuit of scientific discovery.

CHARACTER ANALYSIS:

1. Richard H. Ebright: The protagonist of the story, Ebright is a testament to the power of curiosity and persistence. From his childhood, he demonstrates an inquisitive nature and a love for collecting items, particularly butterflies. His fascination with nature and scientific phenomena leads him to conduct various experiments and make significant discoveries, such as an unknown insect hormone. Ebright's character underscores the importance of dedication, curiosity, and learning from failures in the pursuit of scientific achievement.

2. Ebright's Mother: She is a nurturing and supportive figure in Ebright's life. After losing his father at a young age, his mother becomes the primary influence in his life, encouraging his curiosity and providing him with the resources he needs to learn and explore. She is instrumental in shaping Ebright's scientific interest and career.

3. Dr. Frederick A. Urquhart: A scientist from the University of Toronto, Canada, Dr. Urquhart indirectly plays a significant role in Ebright's scientific journey. His research on monarch butterflies inspires Ebright to participate in tagging butterflies, which marks one of Ebright's first scientific explorations.

KEY POINTS:

1. Curiosity: Ebright's curiosity and passion for collecting things, especially butterflies, sparked his journey into the world of science.

2. Mother's Support: The role of Ebright's mother was crucial in his scientific development. She provided him with learning materials and encouraged his exploration.

3. Learning through Experimentation: Ebright learned the importance of conducting real experiments after a loss in a country science fair, a lesson that significantly influenced his later scientific achievements.

4. Scientific Research: Ebright engaged in various scientific research activities, from tagging butterflies to trying to find the cause of a viral disease in caterpillars.

5. Success and Discovery: Ebright's persistence and dedication led to his success in a national science fair and the discovery of an unknown insect hormone during high school.

6. Persistence: Despite initial setbacks, Ebright's persistence led him to make significant discoveries in his scientific journey.

REASONING AND ASSERTION TYPE MCQs

1. Assertion: Richard Ebright's work being published in a prestigious scientific journal at a young age was a significant accomplishment.

Reasoning: It's compared to hitting a home run on the first try in the big leagues, signifying a remarkable achievement.

- a) Both the assertion and reasoning are true, and the reasoning explains the assertion.

- b) Both the assertion and reasoning are true, but the reasoning does not explain the assertion.
- c) The assertion is true, but the reasoning is false.
- d) The assertion is false, but the reasoning is true.

Ans w a) Both the assertion and reasoning are true, and the reasoning explains the assertion.

er: Explanation: The comparison of Ebright's achievement to hitting a home run on the first try in the big leagues does signify a remarkable achievement, validating the assertion.

2. Assertion: This achievement marked the beginning of Ebright's successful career in science.

Reasoning: The text refers to this as the "first in a long string of achievements", indicating that it was a starting point for future success.

- a) Both the assertion and reasoning are true, and the reasoning explains the assertion.
- b) Both the assertion and reasoning are true, but the reasoning does not explain the assertion.
- c) The assertion is true, but the reasoning is false.
- d) The assertion is false, but the reasoning is true.

Ans w a) Both the assertion and reasoning are true, and the reasoning explains the assertion.

er: Explanation: The phrase "first in a long string of achievements" indicates that this was the starting point of Ebright's successful career in science, so the reasoning is correct.

REFERENCE TO CONTEXT / EXTRACT BASED QUESTIONS

Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow:

Richard Ebright has been interested in science since he first began collecting butterflies — but not so deeply that he hasn't time for other interests. Ebright also became a champion debater and public speaker and a good canoeist and all-around outdoors-person. He is also an expert photographer, particularly of nature and scientific exhibits.

- Questi ons:
1. Identify the initial interest of Richard Ebright that led him to science.
 2. Confirm or deny: Richard Ebright's interest in science prevented him from pursuing other activities.
 3. List the other skills that Richard Ebright developed apart from his interest in science.
 4. Name the outdoor activity mentioned in the passage that Richard Ebright is proficient at.
 5. State the specific type of photography in which Richard Ebright is particularly skilled.

- Ans w
ers:
1. Richard Ebright's initial interest that led him to science was butterfly collecting.
 2. Deny. Richard Ebright's interest in science did not prevent him from pursuing other activities.
 3. Apart from his interest in science, Richard Ebright developed skills in debate, public speaking, canoeing, and photography.
 4. The outdoor activity that Richard Ebright is proficient at, as mentioned in the passage, is canoeing.
 5. Richard Ebright is particularly skilled in nature and scientific exhibit photography.

Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow:

The next year his science fair project was testing the theory that viceroy butterflies copy monarchs. The theory was that viceroys look like monarchs because monarchs don't taste good to birds. Viceroys, on the other hand, do taste good to birds. So the more they look like monarchs, the less likely they are to become a bird's dinner.

- Questi ons:
1. Identify the theory that Richard Ebright tested in his next year's science fair project.
 2. Confirm or deny: The theory suggests that viceroy butterflies look like monarch butterflies because they taste good to birds.
 3. Specify the reason why viceroys are less likely to become a bird's dinner according to the theory.
 4. State the implication of the theory regarding the taste of monarch butterflies to birds.
 5. According to the theory, explain the survival advantage that viceroys get from looking like monarchs.

- Answ
ers:
1. Richard Ebright tested the theory that viceroy butterflies copy the look of monarch butterflies in his next year's science fair project.
 2. Deny. The theory suggests that viceroy butterflies look like monarch butterflies because monarchs do not taste good to birds, not because viceroys themselves taste good.
 3. According to the theory, viceroys are less likely to become a bird's dinner because they look like monarch butterflies, which do not taste good to birds. This mimicry is a form of protection.
 4. According to the theory, monarch butterflies do not taste good to birds.
 5. Viceroys, by looking like monarch butterflies, are less likely to be eaten by birds because birds associate their appearance with the unpleasant taste of monarchs. This mimicry provides viceroys with a survival advantage.

SHORT ANSWER TYPE QUESTIONS

1. Q: What sparked Richard Ebright's interest in science?

A: Richard Ebright's interest in science was sparked by his childhood curiosity, which led him to collect butterflies and explore various scientific subjects.

2. Q: Who played a crucial role in fostering Richard Ebright's scientific curiosity?

A: Richard Ebright's mother played a crucial role in fostering his scientific curiosity by encouraging his interests, providing resources and equipment, and supporting his learning endeavours.

3. Q: What significant achievement did Richard Ebright and his college room-mate accomplish at a young age?

A: Richard Ebright and his college room-mate made a significant achievement by having their theory on how cells work published in the Proceedings of the National Academy of Science, a notable scientific journal.

4. Q: How did Richard Ebright's involvement in butterfly research expand his scientific pursuits?

A: Richard Ebright's involvement in butterfly research led him to study monarch butterflies and their migrations, which opened up opportunities for tagging butterflies, conducting experiments and exploring broader scientific questions.

LONG ANSWER TYPE QUESTIONS

1. How did Richard Ebright's childhood experiences and his mother's support contribute to his development as a scientist?

Answer: Richard Ebright's childhood experiences, such as collecting butterflies and exploring various scientific subjects, nurtured his innate curiosity and sparked his interest in science. His mother played a crucial role by actively encouraging his interests, providing resources, and creating a supportive environment for learning. Through their shared activities and her unwavering support, she cultivated his passion for knowledge and instilled a deep love for learning. This foundation, combined with his mother's belief in his abilities, propelled him towards his path as a scientist.

2. What significant contributions did Richard Ebright make to the field of science during his educational journey?

Answer: Richard Ebright's educational journey was marked by significant contributions to the field of science. At a young age, he published a theory on how cells work in the Proceedings of the National Academy of Science, an achievement rarely attained by college students. His research on insect hormones, particularly his discovery of an unknown hormone in monarch butterflies, showcased his ability to uncover new insights into biological processes. Furthermore, his experimentation and theories on cell life opened avenues for better understanding DNA and its role in cellular development. These contributions demonstrated his intellectual prowess and marked him as a promising young scientist.

SUGGESTED EXERCISES

1. Comprehension Questions:

- What was Richard Ebright's first passion? How did it lead him to his scientific pursuits?
- How did Richard's mother support his interests?
- What role did the book "The Travels of Monarch X" play in Ebright's interest in butterflies?

2. Character Analysis:

- Describe Richard Ebright's personality based on the biography. Use examples from the text to support your answer.
- How did Ebright handle failure? Give examples from the text.

3. Reflection Activity:

- Reflect on Richard Ebright's journey to becoming a successful scientist. What lessons can you learn from his story? Write a short paragraph.

4. Scientific Concepts:

- Explain in your own words what DNA is and its importance in biological organisms.
- What experiment did Richard Ebright conduct on monarch butterflies? What were his findings?

7.THE NECKLACE by Guy de Maupassant

SUMMARY:

"The Necklace" is a short story by Guy de Maupassant. The story centers around Matilda Loisel, a young woman who belongs to a lower-middle-class family but dreams of wealth and beauty. She borrows a seemingly expensive necklace from her friend, Madame Forestier, for a high-society function. However, she loses the necklace and, without telling her friend, replaces it with a real one that costs all of her savings and forces her and her husband into debt for many years. After a

c) A is true but R is false.

d) A is false but R is true.

Explanation: Matilda's obsession with appearing wealthy led her to borrow a necklace that she eventually lost. To replace it, she and her husband had to live in poverty for ten years, thus, her desire for wealth and social status indeed led to her downfall.

2. Assertion (A): Matilda's life was miserable after she lost the necklace.

Reasoning (R): Matilda had to work hard and live in poverty to repay the debt they incurred for replacing the necklace.

a) Both A and R are true and R is the correct explanation of A.

b) Both A and R are true but R is not the correct explanation of A.

c) A is true but R is false.

d) A is false but R is true.

Explanation: Matilda's life became miserable because she had to live in poverty and work hard to pay off the debt for the replacement necklace.

1. Identify the feeling experienced by the speaker in the beginning of the passage. Ans: Vexation or frustration.

2. Provide a synonym for the word 'therefore' that has been used in the passage. Ans: 'consequently'.

3. State the noun form of the word 'violent' as used in the passage. Answer: Violence.

4. Identify the person likely addressed by the speaker in the passage. Answer: Her husband.

5. Mention the reason the speaker can't attend the affair. Answer: Lack of a suitable dress.

Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow:

He turned a little pale, for he had saved just this sum to buy a gun that he might be able to join some hunting parties the next summer, with some friends who went to shoot larks on Sunday. Nevertheless, he answered, "Very well. I will give you four hundred francs. But try to have a pretty dress."

1. Identify the adjective form of the word 'answer' as used in the passage. Answer: Answerable.

2. Provide an antonym for 'rosy or flushed' that has been used in the passage. Answer: 'pale'.

3. State the amount of money the speaker is willing to give. Answer: Four hundred francs.

4. Identify the object the speaker originally intended to purchase with the saved sum. Answer: A gun.

5. Mention the condition the speaker requests for the use of the money. Answer: To buy a pretty dress.

SHORT ANSWER TYPE QUESTIONS

1. Q: Describe Matilda Loisel's character at the beginning of the story.

A: Matilda is beautiful and charming, but discontented with her modest life. She yearns for luxury, desiring rich attire and a high social status, demonstrating her dissatisfaction and ambition.

2. Q: What happens to the necklace that Matilda borrows from her friend?

A: After the ball, Matilda realizes that the necklace, which she borrowed from Madame Forestier for the event, is missing. Despite frantic searches, she and her husband are unable to find it.

3. Q: How do the Loisels replace the lost necklace?

A: The Loisels buy a similar necklace to replace the lost one. It costs them 36,000 francs, forcing them to borrow money from various sources, thereby plunging them into debt.

LONG ANSWER TYPE QUESTIONS

1. Q: Discuss the role of irony in the story 'The Necklace'.

A: Irony plays a crucial role in the story 'The Necklace'. It's evident in Matilda's yearning for wealth and status, which eventually leads to her downfall. Despite living a comfortable life, she's discontented and borrows a necklace to fit into a lifestyle she covets. The major irony surfaces when, after ten years of hardship to repay the debt incurred for replacing the lost necklace, she learns that the original necklace was a fake, and worth very little. Her illusion of wealth and vanity lead her to a life of hard reality and poverty.

2. Q: How does the character of Matilda Loisel evolve throughout the story?

A: Matilda Loisel's character undergoes significant transformation in the story. Initially, she's depicted as a beautiful, discontented, and ambitious woman who yearns for wealth and social status. Her vanity leads her to borrow the necklace, causing her downfall. However, after losing the necklace, she transforms into a hardworking, resilient woman who does everything to repay the debt. By the end of the story, she has aged prematurely due to the hardship she endures, reflecting the harsh reality of her choices.

SUGGESTED EXERCISES

1. Write a letter: Pretend you are Matilda writing a letter to Madame Forestier ten years after the event. Express your feelings and what you've learned from the experience.

2. Draw a comic strip: Illustrate the key events of the story in a comic strip.

3. Debate: Divide the class into two groups. One group should argue that Matilda is a victim of her circumstances, while the other group should argue that she is responsible for her own downfall.

BHOLI by Khwaja Ahmad Abbas

SUMMARY:

"Bholi" is a story of transformation and self-empowerment. It revolves around Sulekha, nicknamed Bholi (meaning simpleminded), who overcomes significant hardships to become a self-respecting and courageous woman. She refuses to succumb to societal pressure and the harmful practice of dowry and expresses her aspiration to become a teacher, thereby shocking and inspiring those around her.

CHARACTER ANALYSIS:

1. Bholi (Sulekha): Initially a timid and reserved girl due to a mental development issue and disfiguring scars from smallpox. However, she transforms into a bold and self-respecting woman with the help of her teacher's encouragement. Her refusal to marry Bishamber in the face of dowry demand showcases her courage and dignity.
2. Bishamber: A well-to-do shopkeeper who initially agrees to marry Bholi but demands dowry upon seeing her scars. His character represents societal prejudice and the harmful practice of dowry.
3. Bholi's parents: Initially worried about Bholi's future due to her scars and mental development issue. However, they support her education, which becomes a turning point in her life.
4. Bholi's teacher: Plays a pivotal role in Bholi's transformation by encouraging her to overcome her fears and develop self-confidence.

KEY POINTS:

1. The negative impact of societal prejudice and the dowry system.
2. The transformative power of education and self-belief.
3. The significant role of a good teacher in a student's life.

VALUES/QUOTES: One has all the strength one needs stored inside of them - all that is required is a guide to tap this strength.

1. What is the real name of the character known as 'Bholi' in the story?

- a) Sita b) Radha c) Sulekha d) Geeta

2. Why was Sulekha nicknamed 'Bholi'?

- a) Because she was very intelligent b) Because she was considered simple-minded
c) Because she was very beautiful d) Because she was very talkative

3. Who plays a significant role in Bholi's transformation in the story?

- a) Her mother b) Her father c) Her teacher d) Her friends

4. What major decision does Bholi make at the end of the story?

- a) To run away from home b) To marry Bishamber
c) To refuse to marry Bishamber d) To become a doctor

5. What does Bholi aspire to become after refusing to marry Bishamber?

- a) A lawyer b) A doctor c) A teacher d) A businesswoman

REASONING AND ASSERTION TYPE MCQs

1. Assertion (A): Bholi's father decides to send her to school.

Reason (R): Bholi's father believes in the importance of education for girls.

- a) Both A and R are true and R is the correct explanation of A
b) Both A and R are true but R is not the correct explanation of A
c) A is true but R is false
d) A is false but R is true

Answer: c) A is true but R is false

Explanation: Bholi's father does decide to send her to school, but not because he believes in the importance of education for girls. He does so because he doesn't think Bholi has any chances of getting married due to her being an unattractive simpleton.

2. Assertion (A): Bholi decides not to marry Bishamber.

Reason (R): Bishamber demands a dowry at the last minute.

- a) Both A and R are true and R is the correct explanation of A
b) Both A and R are true but R is not the correct explanation of A
c) A is true but R is false
d) A is false but R is true

Answer: a) Both A and R are true and R is the correct explanation of A

Explanation: Bholi does decide not to marry Bishamber because he shows his greed and cowardice by demanding a dowry at the last minute.

3. Assertion (A): Bholi was slow at learning things and stammered as she spoke.

Reason (R): Bholi was born with a learning disability.

- a) Both A and R are true and R is the correct explanation of A
b) Both A and R are true but R is not the correct explanation of A
c) A is true but R is false
d) A is false but R is true

Answer: c) A is true but R is false

Explanation: While Bholi was slow at learning things and stammered as she spoke, this was not because she was born with a learning disability. This was a result of an accidental fall in her childhood, which damaged part of her brain.

REFERENCE TO CONTEXT / EXTRACT BASED QUESTIONS

Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow:

At birth, the child was very fair and pretty. But when she was two years old, she had an attack of small-pox. Only the eyes were saved, but the entire body was permanently disfigured by deep black pock-marks. Little Sulekha could not speak till she was five, and when at last she learnt to speak, she stammered. The other children often made fun of her and mimicked her. As a result, she talked very little.

1. State the condition of the child at birth. Answer: The child was very fair and pretty at birth.
2. Confirm if the child's body was permanently disfigured. Answer: Yes, the child's body was permanently disfigured by deep black pock-marks.
3. State the consequence of other children making fun of her. Answer: As a result of other children making fun of her, she talked very little.
4. Give a synonym for the word "marred" that has been used in the passage. Answer: "disfigured".
5. Provide the antonym of the word "shallow" that has been used in this passage. Answer: "deep".

Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow:

Ramlal had seven children — three sons and four daughters, and the youngest of them was Bholi. It was a prosperous farmer's household and there was plenty to eat and drink. All the children except Bholi were healthy and strong. The sons had been sent to the city to study in schools and later in colleges. Of the daughters, Radha, the eldest, had already been married. The second daughter Mangla's marriage had also been settled, and when that was done, Ramlal would think of the third, Champa. They were good-looking, healthy girls, and it was not difficult to find bridegrooms for them.

1. State the condition of all Ramlal's children except Bholi.

Answer: All of Ramlal's children, except Bholi, were healthy and strong.

2. Describe the education plan for Ramlal's sons.

Answer: Ramlal's sons were sent to the city to study in schools and later in colleges.

3. Name the first daughter of Ramlal to be married.

Answer: Radha, the eldest daughter, was the first to be married.

4. Define the term "good-looking" as used in the context of Ramlal's daughters.

Answer: In the context of Ramlal's daughters, "good-looking" means attractive.

SHORT ANSWER TYPE QUESTIONS

1. Question: Describe Bholi's initial personality and how it was shaped by her circumstances.

Answer: Bholi, originally named Sulekha, was a simple and quiet girl. An accidental fall in childhood caused her to be slow at learning things and she stammered when she spoke. She was also disfigured by smallpox, leading to ridicule and neglect, which made her grow up shy and reserved.

2. Question: Why did Bholi's father decide to send her to school?

Answer: Bholi's father decided to send her to school because he felt there was very little chance of her getting married due to her disfigurement and slow learning. He thought that schooling wouldn't harm her prospects further and might even help her in some way.

3. Question: How did Bholi's teacher influence her life?

Answer: Bholi's teacher played a significant role in her transformation. Despite her initial nervousness, Bholi was motivated and encouraged by her teacher, who instilled confidence and belief in her abilities. This guidance helped Bholi to evolve into a strong and courageous woman.

LONG ANSWER TYPE QUESTIONS

1. Question: Discuss the transformation of Bholi from a timid girl to a confident woman. What factors contributed to this transformation?

Answer: Initially, Bholi was a timid and shy girl, often ridiculed and neglected due to her disfigurement and slow learning. However, her transformation began when she started attending school. Her teacher played a significant role in this transformation by instilling in her a sense of confidence and belief in her abilities. The turning point comes at her wedding, when she refuses to marry Bishamber because of his unjust dowry demand. This incident marked her complete transformation into a confident woman who was unafraid to stand up against injustice.

2. Question: Explain the role of Bholi's teacher in shaping her personality and her life. How does this reflect on the importance of a good teacher in a student's life?

Answer: Bholi's teacher played a pivotal role in her life. Despite her initial nervousness, the teacher motivated her and helped her overcome her fear and stammering. Her teacher's confidence in her abilities inspired Bholi to work hard, instilling in her a sense of self-worth and confidence. This story underlines the significant role a good teacher can play in shaping a student's life. They can guide students towards the path of righteousness, instill confidence, and unlock their inherent qualities, enabling them to tackle life's challenges.

SUGGESTED EXERCISES

1. Write a short essay on the theme of transformation in the story "Bholi."
2. Discuss the role of Bholi's teacher in shaping her personality.
3. Debate on the impact of societal prejudice and dowry system as depicted in the story.
4. Create a character sketch of Bishamber and discuss his role in the story.

5. Analyze how education acts as a catalyst in Bholi's life.

THE BOOK THAT SAVED THE EARTH by Claire Bioko

SUMMARY:

'The Book That Saved the Earth' by Claire Bioko is a hypothetical play set in the 25th century where historians recount a tale of a Martian invasion from the 20th century. Martian characters, including Chief Think-Tank, Apprentice Noodle, Captain Omega, Lieutenant Iota, and Sergeant Oop, arrive at Earth with the intention of invading it. In a library, they encounter books and initially misinterpret them as food. Noodle, the most intelligent among them, suggests that books might be a communication device. They attempt to understand a children's rhyme book, "Mother Goose," and take the rhymes literally. This leads to Think-Tank, the self-proclaimed leader, believing that Earthlings want to kill him, resulting in a called-off invasion and an immediate evacuation of Mars.

CHARACTER ANALYSIS:

1. Think-Tank: The self-proclaimed leader of the Martian group. He has a large balloon head and considers himself highly intelligent. Despite his boasting, he often misconstrues situations, leading to comical misunderstandings.
2. Noodle: The true brains of the group, Noodle is modest and intelligent. He makes key decisions but lets Think-Tank take the credit. Noodle is the one who correctly identifies that books are a form of communication.

KEY POINTS:

1. The Martians' misunderstanding of Earthly objects like books.
2. The literal interpretation of the children's rhyme "Humpty Dumpty" that leads to Think-Tank's fear and the call-off of the invasion.
3. The story is recounted by 25th-century historians, adding a layer of historical commentary to the narrative.

VALUES/QUOTES:

1. "Half-fed knowledge is dangerous" - This is a key theme of the play.
2. "Just a children's rhyme book saved the Earth from an invasion." - This highlights the power of simple things and the importance of understanding and communication.

MINIMUM LEVEL LEARNING TYPE MCQs:

1. Who is the author of 'The Book That Saved the Earth'?
a) Claire Bioko b) Mark Twain c) J.K. Rowling d) George Orwell

Explanation: Think-Tank, not understanding what books are, makes a guess based on their physical form and believes they are sandwiches; hence both the assertion and reasoning are correct and related.

2. Assertion (A): Think-Tank abandons the plan of invasion after reading the nursery rhymes.

Reasoning (R): Think-Tank interprets the rhymes as a threat and fears an attack by the Earthlings.

Choose the correct answer from the following options:

- a) Both A and R are true and R is the correct explanation of A
- b) Both A and R are true but R is not the correct explanation of A
- c) A is true but R is false
- d) A is false but R is true

Answer: a) Both A and R are true and R is the correct explanation of A.

Explanation: After reading the nursery rhymes, Think-Tank becomes fearful and cancels the invasion, making both the assertion and reasoning correct and related.

REFERENCE TO CONTEXT / EXTRACT BASED QUESTIONS

Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow:

THINK-TANK: (smacking mirror) Quicker. Answer quicker next time. I hate a slow mirror. (He admires himself in the mirror.) Ah, there I am. Are we Martians not a handsome race? So much more attractive than those ugly Earthlings with their tiny heads. Noodle, you keep on exercising your mind, and someday you'll have a balloon brain just like mine.

Questions:

1. Describe the characteristic that Think-Tank admires in the Martian race.
2. Compare the appearance of Martians and Earthlings according to Think-Tank.
3. Explain the advice Think-Tank gives to Noodle regarding achieving a brain like his.
4. Define how Think-Tank describes his own brain.
5. Identify a synonym for 'attractive' that has been used in the passage.

Answers:

1. The characteristic that Think-Tank admires in the Martian race is their attractiveness.
2. According to Think-Tank, Martians are more attractive than Earthlings, who he describes as having tiny heads.
3. Think-Tank advises Noodle to exercise his mind to achieve a brain like his, which he describes as a "balloon brain."
4. Think-Tank describes his own brain as being like a balloon.
5. A synonym for 'attractive' that has been used in the passage is 'handsome'.

Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow:

IOTA: I can't figure it out, Captain. (holding up a book) I've counted two thousand of these peculiar items. This place must be some sort of storage barn. What do you think, Sergeant Oop?

OOP: I haven't a clue. I've been to seven galaxies, but I've never seen anything like this. Maybe they're hats. (He opens a book and puts it on his head.) Say, maybe this is a haberdashery!

OMEGA: (bowing low) Perhaps the Great and Mighty Think-Tank will give us the benefit of his thought on the matter.

SHORT ANSWER TYPE QUESTIONS

Question1: Who are the main characters in the play "The Book That Saved the Earth" and what are their roles?

Answer: The main characters are Think-Tank, Noodle, Omega, Iota, and Oop. Think-Tank is the self-proclaimed intelligent leader of the Martians who misinterprets Earth's culture and calls off the invasion. Noodle, his apprentice, is the one who suggests that books might be a form of communication. Omega, Iota, and Oop are other Martian crew members who follow Think-Tank's orders.

Question2: What was the Martians' initial understanding of books when they first encountered them?

Answer: When the Martians first encountered books in a library on Earth, they didn't understand their purpose. They initially thought that books were sandwiches or some form of food, as suggested by Think-Tank.

Question3: How did the Martians misinterpret the nursery rhymes in the "Mother Goose" book?

Answer: The Martians, led by Think-Tank, took the literal meanings of the nursery rhymes. For instance, when they read "Humpty Dumpty," Think-Tank identified with Humpty and assumed that the Earthlings wanted to kill him, which led to the cancellation of their invasion plan.

LONG ANSWER TYPE QUESTION

Question1: Discuss the theme of misunderstanding in "The Book That Saved the Earth" and how it impacts the plot.

Answer: Misunderstanding is a central theme in "The Book That Saved the Earth". The Martians, despite considering themselves superior and intelligent, completely misinterpret the concept and purpose of books. This misunderstanding leads to humorous scenarios, such as them believing books are sandwiches or sound-emitting devices. However, it's their misinterpretation of the nursery rhymes - specifically, their literal understanding of "Humpty Dumpty" - that drives the plot, leading Think-Tank to call off the invasion out of fear. The theme of misunderstanding underscores the importance of context and cultural understanding, and how lack thereof can lead to significant consequences.

Question2: Analyse the character of Think-Tank and his role in the play.

Answer: Think-Tank, the leader of the Martian team, is depicted as self-important and pompous, yet not as intelligent as he believes himself to be. His misunderstanding of Earth's culture and books, despite his claim of superior intellect, provides much of the play's humour. It's his misinterpretation of the nursery rhymes, particularly identifying himself with Humpty Dumpty, that leads to his fear of Earthlings and the cancellation of the invasion. Thus, Think-Tank's character serves as a critique of arrogance and self-importance, while highlighting the importance of humility and true understanding.

SECTION A

Reading Skills 20 marks

1. Read the following passage carefully:

10

(1) Saffron is a spice that's long been revered across the globe, captivating hearts and palates with its deep red hue and complex flavour. It is one of the most prized spices that you can find on this planet. Just like gold is amount the most valuable metals in the world, saffron means the same in the world of spices. Also known as 'kesar' in Hindi, it has a rich history and is often called an ancient spice. Saffron is being used sine ages in various foods made for the royals and the elite as it contains medicinal properties.

(2) Originating from the delicate stigma of the saffron crocus flower, it transforms the ordinary into the extraordinary, infusing dishes with a subtle, earthy sweetness that adds a special taste to the palate. Saffron has a strong exotic aroma and a unique flavour and is used to colour and flavour many Mediterranean and Asian dishes, particularly rice, fish and English, Scandinavian, and Balkan breads.

(3) Saffron forms the backbone of several iconic dishes from around the world, such as the Spanish rice, seafood dish Paella, the French stew Bouillabaisse, Italian rice dish Risotto Milanese, the Indian ice cream Kesar Kulfi, Pakistani rice dish Biryani, and baked Iranian rice Tachin. Saffron's rich red colour is attributed to crocin; its bitter taste, to picrocrocin; and its distinctive aroma, to safranal.

(4) Saffron is cultivated chiefly in Iran but is also grown in Spain, France, Italy and parts of India. A labour – intensive crop, the three stigmas are handpicked from each flower, spread on trays and dried over charcoal fire for use as a food flavouring and colouring agent.

(5) Most historians speculate it was first domesticated in Iran, but south-western Greek islands remain strong contenders. Traders, conquerors, and world explorers introduced it to China, India and the Middle East. From there, it travelled to Mediterranean Europe.

(6) The high retail value of saffron is maintained in world markets because of labour-intensive harvesting methods, which require some 444,000 hand-picked saffron stigmas per kilogram — equivalently, 150,000 crocus flowers per kilogram. Forty hours of labour are needed to pick 150,000 flowers. Almost all saffron grows in a belt from Spain in the west to India in the east. Iran is responsible for around 88% of global production. Afghanistan comes second, and Spain is the third largest producer, while the United Arab Emirates, Greece, the Indian subcontinent and Morocco are among minor producers.

(7) Given its high price, adulteration is quite common, unfortunately. Adulterants like beetroot or pomegranate are used to enhance red colour, silk fibres, oil, or wax are used to add bulk, and powdered saffron can be adulterated with turmeric and paprika.

Answer the following questions, based on the above passage :

(i) What is the tone of the writer in the given lines? Rationalise your response in about 40 words.
“Saffron is being used since ages in various foods made for the royals and the elite as it contains medicinal properties.” Paragraph (1)

(ii) Which of the following statements best describes the comparison made in the sentence?

“Just like gold is among the most valuable metals in the world, saffron means the same in the world of spices.”

- (A) Gold and saffron have similar physical properties.
- (B) Gold and saffron have equal monetary value.
- (C) Saffron is considered the most valuable spice, similar to how gold is valued among metals.
- (D) Gold and saffron are both rare commodities in the global market.

(iii) List any two points why saffron is revered across the globe. Paragraphs (2) and (3) 2

(iv) Fill in the blank from the given options:

In the phrase ‘backbone of several iconic dishes’, the word ‘iconic’ refers to ____.

- (A) delicately cooked
- (B) widely recognized
- (C) peculiar and rare
- (D) strange and infamous Paragraph (3) 1

(v) Complete the sentence appropriately:

Saffron has a labour-intensive cultivation process which involves _____. Paragraph (4) 2

(vi) State whether the following statement is True or False:

According to historians, saffron was first used in the kitchens in Iran. Paragraph (5) 1

(vii) Which of the following statements best describes the reason for saffron’s high retail value?

- (A) Due to its magical or mystical properties.
- (B) Because it can only be grown in specific regions.
- (C) Due to its labour-intensive cultivation process and its relatively low yield per plant.
- (D) Because traders, conquerors, and world explorers hoard it. Paragraph (6) 1

(viii) Support the writer’s view with evidence from the text that saffron is often adulterated. Para 7

2. Read the following passage carefully:

(1) Silk is a natural protein fibre, some forms of which can be woven into textiles. Silk has a long history in India. It is known as Resham in eastern and northern India, and Pattu in the southern parts of India. India is the second largest producer of silk in the world after China.

(2) Silk is renowned for its luxurious qualities with a natural soft and smooth texture that feels comfortable on the skin. One of its unique qualities is to absorb and release moisture, regulating the body temperature, and keeping the wearer cool and dry.

(3) Silk is one of the strongest natural fibres, but it loses up to 20% of its strength when wet. Its elasticity is moderate to poor: if elongated even a small amount, it remains stretched. It can be weakened if exposed to too much sunlight. It may also be attacked by insects, especially if left dirty.

(4) The process of silk production is known as sericulture. Silk is produced by several insects; but, generally, only the silk of moth caterpillars has been used for textile manufacturing. To produce 1 kg of silk, 104 kg of mulberry leaves must be eaten by 3000 silkworms.

(5) So what makes silk so costly? Firstly, cultivation of silk is a labour-intensive work. Secondly, the silk fabric is carefully derived from the larva of the silkworms which spin silk threads around themselves to make cocoons from natural sources. This makes the production limited due to factors like — climate, availability of quality mulberry leaves and time required by silkworms to complete their lifecycle. Thirdly, the intensive work can only be carried out with specialized knowledge and expertise by skilled artisans and craftsmanship. Lastly, superior quality silk fabrics are made from long and uniform silk fibres giving them a smooth and lustrous appearance. Thus, production requires careful selection, adding to the cost.

In 2021, Karnataka was the highest producer of raw silk at 8483 metric tonnes followed by Andhra Pradesh at 5520 metric tonnes with Assam close behind at 5038 metric tonnes. At the other end of the spectrum there was Chhattisgarh (248 metric tonnes), Nagaland (230 metric tonnes) and UP trailed behind at 179 metric tonnes.

Answer the following questions, based on the above passage:

(i) What does the phrase 'luxurious qualities' in paragraph (2) tell you about the silk fabric? Write in 40 words with evidence from the text. 2

(ii) Select the option that is true for the assertion and reason given below.

Assertion: Silk production requires careful selection.

Reason: Long and uniform silk fibres give silk a glossy appearance.

(A) Both the assertion and the reason are true, and the reason is the correct explanation of the assertion.

(B) Both the assertion and the reason are true, but the reason is not the correct explanation of the assertion.

(C) The assertion is true, but the reason is false.

(D) The assertion is false, but the reason is true. 1

iii) Justify the following statement:

Silk whispers luxury! Its price reflects not just its rarity but the value of the meticulous process behind its creation.1

(iv) According to the passage, mention the top two countries that produce silk.1

(v) "Factors like climate, availability of quality mulberry leaves and time required by silkworms to complete their lifecycle are important factors for the production of silk."

State any one inference that can be drawn from this.1

(vi) Complete the following with a suitable reason from the text:

Though silk is considered one of the strongest fibres, it is _____.1

(vii) Based on the given text, mention the states which produced the most and the least amount of raw silk in India in the year 2021.1

(viii) Complete the sentence suitably.

104 kgs of mulberry leaves eaten by 3000 silkworms results in _____.1

(ix) With reference to the given passage, give one reason why silk production is considered labour-intensive.1

SECTION A

READING SKILLS

(20 marks)

1. Read the following text.

10

(1) Water is one of the most essential resources on Earth, yet it is often taken for granted. Despite its abundance, the reality is that only a small fraction of the world's water is fresh and available for human use. With increasing populations, climate change, and industrial demands, the pressure on our water resource is growing. This makes water conservation not just a collective responsibility but a crucial individual duty. Each person's effort towards conserving water can significantly impact the preservation of this vital resource for future generations.

(2) One of the primary reasons individual water conservation efforts are so important is the cumulative effect of small actions which may seem trivial on their own. However, when multiplied by millions of people, these actions can lead to substantial water savings. For example, a single dripping tap can waste over 15 litres of water a day. Imagine the water saved if every household in a city repaired just one leaky faucet. This highlights the power of collective individual actions in reducing water waste.

(3) Moreover, personal efforts towards water conservation often lead to greater awareness and education. When individuals take steps to conserve water, they become more conscious of their water usage and the importance of this resource. This awareness can then spread within communities, inspiring others to adopt similar practices. For instance, a family that installs water-saving devices in their home may encourage neighbours and friends to do the same, creating a ripple effect. This grassroots approach to conservation can be particularly effective in areas where larger – scale initiative may be slow to implement or lacking in support.

(4) In addition to daily habits, individuals can also make a difference through more significant lifestyle choices. For instances, opting for drought-resistant plants in gardens and supporting water- efficient agriculture can all contribute to water conservation? Agriculture, especially livestock farming, is one of the largest consumers of water globally. By supporting sustainable farming practices, individuals can indirectly reduce the water footprint of their food.

(5) Critics might argue that individual efforts are negligible compared to the large- scale water consumption by industries and agriculture. However, this perspective overlooks the potential for individual actions to drive systemic change. When people collectively make water- conscious choices, they send a powerful message to businesses and policymakers about the importance of conservation.

(6) Each person’s commitment to saving water, no matter how small, contributes to a larger culture of sustainability. By making conscious choices and spreading awareness, individuals can help ensure that future generations have access to clean, fresh water they need to thrive. Water conservation is not just the responsibility of governments and industries; it is a shared duty that begins with each of us.

2. Read the following text. — 10 marks

(1) A thorough study conducted across several villages of north-west India unveiled fascinating insights into the mural* landscape. It revealed that a significant majority, comprising around 80%, of these vibrant artworks are meticulously crafted by the villagers themselves. Approximately 15% of the murals stem from collaborative endeavours between villagers and local or visiting artists.

(2) Surprisingly, a small fraction, about 5%, of the murals are the result of sponsored initiatives, often commissioned by governmental or non-governmental organisations. These murals convey social messages ranging from education and environmental conservation to public health awareness.

(3) Among the locally crafted murals, nearly 55% depict scenes from mythology and folklore, celebrating the rich cultural heritage of the region. About 26% of these murals showcase daily life in the villages, capturing moments of joy, struggle, and victory. The remaining 19% feature abstract or contemporary themes, reflecting evolving artistic expressions in rural settings.

(4) Further analysis reveals that among the locally crafted murals, nearly 63% are found on the walls of community centres, temples, and other public spaces. Around 27% adorn the exterior walls of residential houses. The remaining 10% are scattered across schools, health centres, and other institutional buildings, serving as educational tools and sources of inspiration for the younger generation.

(5) To delve deeper, comparisons across various parameters such as demographic patterns, subject matter, techniques, community engagement, and impact are crucial. Analysing these facets not only provides a comprehensive understanding of mural creation in northwest Indian villages but also unveils avenues for cultural preservation, community development, and creative expression.

Suggested response:

The Eco-Friendly School Bag stands out as an excellent purchase choice for several reasons. Firstly, its use of recycled materials demonstrates a commitment to environmental sustainability, making it an eco-conscious option. Additionally, the ergonomic design, featuring padded shoulder straps and a breathable mesh back panel, ensures maximum comfort during long school days. The spacious main compartment with multiple pockets and organisers offers ample storage space for textbooks, notebooks, and other essentials, promoting organisation and efficiency. Moreover, the inclusion of reflective strips enhances visibility and safety, especially during low light conditions. The water-resistant fabric further protects belongings from unexpected rain showers, adding durability and reliability to the bag. With its availability in various vibrant colours and patterns, this school bag not only meets functional needs but also allows for personal style expression, making it a versatile and appealing choice for students.

5. Suggested response:
 The proposed playground design for the resident area embodies a thoughtful fusion of traditional Indian aesthetics and modern play elements. The central climbing structure, like a miniature fort, offers multifaceted play experiences, encouraging physical activity and imaginative exploration. The swings, decorated with vibrant Indian patterns, coupled with monkey bars and zip line, add cultural flair as well as excitement to the playground. Additionally, the incorporation of a water play feature inspired by Indian fountains or rivers not only provides sensory stimulation but also offers a refreshing respite from the heat. Shaded seating areas, resembling traditional chaupals or gazebos, provide comfortable spaces for parents and caregivers to supervise and socialise. Furthermore, the presence of trees, shrubs, and flower beds, along with ample open space, enhances the overall aesthetic appeal and promotes environmental sustainability. This playground prioritises safety, inclusivity, cultural enrichment, and environmental consciousness, ensuring an engaging and enriching experience for residents of all ages.

A.	Dust of Snow employs imagery of lightness, purity, and serenity through the snow fall and the hemlock tree. The imagery suggests that even small moments of beauty in nature can uplift the human spirit. In contrast, Fire and Ice utilises imagery of destruction and intensity through fire and ice conveys the destructive potential of desire and hatred, highlighting the darker aspects of human emotions and relationships. In Dust of Snow, the speaker's emotional response to nature is one of gratitude and appreciation. Conversely, Fire and Ice evokes a sense of fear and contemplation about the destructive forces inherent in human nature. Dust of Snow focuses on the idea of small, unexpected moments in nature leading to positive change and renewal in the individual. Fire and Ice suggests that these internal forces have the potential to shape not only individual lives but also the fate of humanity as a whole. While Dust of Snow emphasises the potential for beauty and renewal in even the smallest aspects of nature, Fire and ice explores the darker aspects of human desire and hatred, highlighting the destructive forces that can shape human existence.
